Dedication

There are few teachers who have the ability to change one's mood with only the slightest effort, yet even a brief conversation with Mrs. Ball can make the gloomiest person feel better. Always cheerful and pleasant, Mrs. Ball has become a "second mother" to many students, mostly through her supportive and compassionate manner. Chances are one could walk down the Upper School hallway at any time and see her tutoring a student in the close confines of her office, making sure that he or she clearly understands the cryptic formulas in the book. Her advisees, when not stuffing their faces with free donuts, receive her knowledgeable guidance throughout the rigors of life in school. Even those who merely pass her in the halls are greeted with the trademark warm smile and a "howdy!"

It has been said that behind every successful man there is a woman, but Mrs. Ball is no mere "Headmaster's Wife." She is in attendance at every game, play or concert, and her voice is clear and direct amid the silence of Friends Meeting. She is a wonderful, sensitive person, and we thought it's high time someone thanked her for just being her and for being here. (and we're not just saying that so we can graduate!) Thanks, Mrs. Ball.

love,

The Class of 1991

To The Class Of 1991

I admit to being somewhat daunted by the concept of tying the Class of 1991 to dinosaurs. However, a visit to the second grade to learn about their study of dinosaurs reminded me of the endless fascination associated with those creatures. I also left the lower school with two books of dinosaur riddles which I could quote here, but I am afraid that quoting them would undermine your already skeptical view of my sense of humor. The combination of massive strength and strange vulnerability is of ongoing interest to people of varying ages. What happened to the dinosaurs remains a source of scientific inquiry.

In some ways the comparison to dinosaurs is appropriate. The physical strength of a number of class members has helped to lead the school to many athletic triumphs. Outstanding work by Bill Gallagher, Brien Weick, and others led the football team to a league championship. Swimmer Jim Killinger and class president and wrestler Leo Wyszynski are concluding outstanding seasons as I write this note. The lumbering figure of Garret Jackson is a part of daily life in Penn Charter's halls.

On the other hand, the comparison seems terribly stretched. Dinosaurs were never known for their intelligence or for their sensitivity. Class members have demonstrated both qualities throughout the year. In fact, some of the individuals who have led the school in such areas as athletics have also been classroom and academic leaders. Also individuals such as Jim Smartt have demonstrated considerable artistic talents.

Your selection of dinosaurs as a metaphor clearly rests on the idea of the last all male class. You represent the last class emerging from a tradition that has been rich and fulfilling for students for many decades. As such, you can take pride in your accomplishments and in the accomplishments of those who have gone before you. You, through your individual accomplishments and when you act collectively in positive ways, represent the best of that tradition, and I congratulate you for it.

At the same time, I have a deep sense that what is particularly meaningful about the Penn Charter tradition is in fact not changing. That belief leads me to the conclusion that as you look back upon your years at the school it will not be the all male tradition that comes most quickly to mind. More importantly, you will, if you are typical of alumni, reflect on the student/teacher relationship and on the efforts of teachers to assist you in the development of your inner talents. Also, you will reflect on classmates and the friendships that have made Penn Charter an important place to you. I also hope that you will reflect on the Quaker tradition and the values of quiet meditation and looking within oneself for meaning. This has been a very positive class in terms of its leadership in Meeting for Worship. I think of the voices of individuals such as Daniel Donaghy and Kwame Kleckley amongst others.

I also believe that the key question of whatever happened to the dinosaurs won't be an applicable one for you. All of us at the school look forward to continuing contact with you in the years ahead. We are confident that your skills and your own energies will bring you notable success. We wish you happiness and, with particular poignancy in view of the events of this year, a peaceful world in which to exercise your many talents.

Earl J. Ball, III

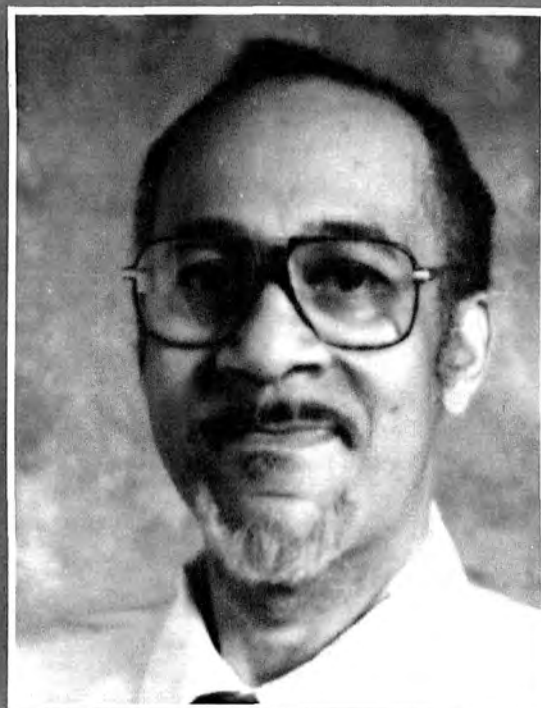

In Memoriam

The fall of 1990 was a sullen time for the Penn Charter Community, for in the short span of three weeks the school lost two of its most devoted employees. Carl Boyd, school dietician and bus driver, died early in November of a sudden heart attack. Later that same month, retired housekeeper Sissy Blow passed away after a long bout with cancer. Both deaths saddened all who had known Carl and Sissy, for they were two of the most generous and giving people the school had ever known. On behalf of the entire community, we would like to remember them for all they did, and to extend our deepest sympathies to their families. They will not be forgotten.

Susan Allison-Hatch

History

Joining us from the wild, wild West is Ms. Allison-Hatch, our new Upper School Director. Apart from being in charge of the curriculum, Ms. Allison-Hatch also teaches History. Whether in the hallways or in her office, she always greets each and everyone with a huge smile. Ms. Allison-Hatch has tried to get to know the senior class by inviting each one to pizza and "pop" (Free food!). We wish her luck and hope that she keeps inviting seniors to lunch for many years to come.

John Arts

French

Of all the accordion-playing, multi-lingual, French teachers, Mr. Arts is hands-down the best. Whether entertaining his homeroom, or teaching his Latin or French classes, Mr. Arts is the epitome of cool. His stylish glasses and superb fashion sense are examples to us all. Although we sometimes might have trouble understanding him, we know his heart is in the right place.

Pam Ball

Math

The wife of our favorite Headmaster, Mrs. Ball finds a way to make math fun and enjoyable. Her amusing anecdotes and catchy phrases not only help you get the material down, but also make getting to know her a lot easier. Her great relationship with students is an example to us all, and we hope she is as successful as we are going to be in this new decade. FE-"Success comes in 'cans'."

Ray Barber

Librarian

If you ever go near the library and hear, "I don't care who was talking, YOU'RE going to leave," you've found the man we all know as Dr. Barber. He is quite lenient on students who are talking in the library and is widely known for his fair treatment of all who are not silent. Although he spends a lot of time with student relations, he also helps us find information on topics ranging from the first president of the U.S. to the practice of snow skiing on the equator. Doc's harmonious "Please, Get Out!" has become an institution at P.C. and will certainly be missed by graduating seniors.

Steve Bonnie

English

Known for his relaxed attitude and even temper (not), Mr. Bonnie has found his way into the "soles" of most students not already involved in a spring sport. When not coaching his Championship track team or teaching English, Bonnie can be found interviewing prospective students, making certain to ask those three important questions: 1) How's your math?; 2) How's your English?; 3) What's your time in the 100? A- To be black.

Bob Bovee

Social Studies

One might wonder why someone would teach Geography to 7th graders, coach 6th grade soccer and chase the MUN around Holland voluntarily. This person must either be insane or a saint. Whatever the combination of the two, Mr. Bovee is the man for the job. Throughout it all he never loses his cool, even when his desk is moved on him. N- R-E-S-P-E-C-T FE- "Guys . . ." NN- Big Bad Bob Bovee.

Allan Brown

History

Mr. Brown has spent this year focusing on his true talent, scheduling all of our classes into that labyrinth of blocks and times we call our six day rotation. Although we all miss his famed "bustergrams" (yeah right!), we know that our schedules are safe in his hands. When not busily at work on the computer, Mr. Brown finds time to teach 9th grade History. PP- People who try to fit 7 courses into 6 blocks.

Charlie Brown

Sixth Grade

Mr. Brown, or CB., is P.C.'s "do as I say, not as I do" swim coach, utility baseball coach and inventive soccer coach who actually ran cross country his whole life— go figure. When he is not trying to show kids up on the playing fields or in the pool, he is teaching middle schoolers English and Math. Although none of us have ever had him in class, we have all seen him sitting on the Activities Building wall, talking about sports.

J. Crosby Brown

Art

Inheriting the sawdust pit (the wood shop) from Ms. Gordon is Mr. Brown. A welcomed addition to both the Art department and a group of faculty members sharing the same last name, Mr. Brown has quickly gained the friendship of everyone he's met. His welcoming smile and amiable disposition have brightened the days of many students. N- A small army to help clean up the wood shop.

John Burkhart

History

Mr. Burkhart has got to be the person in the Upper School all freshmen fear the most. His overpowering stature and loud, booming voice are enough to strike terror in the hearts of any History student or the editors of the Yearbook who nearly missed a deadline. His undaunting eye for precision and punctuality are the stuff many students will have nightmares about 'till they are thirty. Herr Burkhart is deeply rooted in our hearts and minds as we leave P.C. for bigger and better things.

Paul Butler

Phys. Ed.

The man to see when the nurse is out to lunch is Mr. Butler. He has taught us all the basic principles of being healthy as well as how to make "a mature decision." When not found in the training room taping someone's ankle, he can be found cruising in his golf cart around campus. Mr. Butler has simplified sports medicine with these words: "Put some ice on it."

Susan Cinoman

Drama

Ms. Cinoman brings a distinct flavor to the Arts at P.C. In order to handle her unruly actors, she pacifies them with food; perhaps this is the secret of her success. PP- Critics. KF- Never-ending rehearsals. FE- "Let's do this scene one more time."

Jack Coleman

Social Studies

When one finishes a course with Dr. Coleman, you'll find that the amount of knowledge covered in it is amazing. From plumbing to astrophysics, he always finds a way to connect seemingly unrelated topics to historical events. To be brutally honest, "Doc" is one of the most challenging teachers here, and we just hope he has enough patience to deal with those "kiddies in the hallways," for the years to come. N- A new "big stick." PP- People who generalize. KF- Returning papers with SPEED???

Chuck Cooper

Spanish

This year, Coop came back a lean, mean, teaching machine (for a change). He lost a few pounds over the summer and seems to be putting extra energy into giving his students quizzes. He is always willing to help you if you don't understand something, as long as he can still get home by 3:00-the man needs to watch his soaps. Coop is known for his outstanding teaching ability and his five-day work week(?)

Glen Curry

Spanish

Before coming to P.C., Mr. Curry taught for ten years at the "beloved" German-town Academy. Although he is only teaching Spanish nowadays, he hopes that some day he will be able to incorporate Latin History to the curriculum -how about it, Mr. Marks? Mr. Curry's ambition is to be able to convince us that a foreign language isn't hard to learn if one is willing to put in the hours. We hope that he is successful in his quest and that his dreams of one day teaching Latin History and involving P.C. in a foreign student exchange program will become reality.

Alice Davis

Chemistry

While the Administration claims to be in control of the school, those who have taken AP Chemistry know better. The Mighty Davis rules the Science department with an iron fist and even led Bob and the MUN crew to The Hague last year. Mrs. Davis' great sense of humor makes even night classes bearable and her endless energy and devotion to her students inspires undying loyalty from her subjects, er . . . students. NN- The Goddess of Chemistry A- To rule the world as a technocracy PP- The triumph of mediocrity.

Molly Delaney

English

Ms. Delaney, the newest member of the English department, comes to us from South Philly High. She is a big Shakespeare fan, and while not teaching 9th or 10th graders that "To be or not to be . . ." wasn't said by Bullwinkle, she assists Ms. Cinoman in our dramatic productions and is an actress in Shakespeare plays "in the Park." We wish her luck at P.C.

Audra DiCesare

Science

Ms. DiCesare is the Science department's version of Bo Jackson, teaching both the Middle and Upper Schools. This versatile teaching machine can be seen zipping through the Biology Lab to get various test tubes for her classes. If not in the Lab itself, she often clears the biological mud for poor, confused 9th graders in her office. With her friendly smile and nifty dresses, Ms. DiCesare gives the Biology region a beneficial push.

Nancy Donaghy

Math

In the grand scheme of life, the universe, and everything, it is a definite minus that Mrs. Donaghy doesn't teach more courses. She is one of those few teachers whom you hear about in Middle School and then pray that you'll be lucky enough to have. If she could only spend a little more time in the classroom and less in the Development office, we'd all be much happier. She is the nicest person you could ever ask to have, and she's not a bad teacher either -No, Dan didn't write this.

John Dover

Biology & Health

Taking over as the new Dean of Students this year, is Charlie Simmons look-alike John Dover. He demonstrated his power even before school started by moving Mr. Gallagher into that closet which Mr. Teare called an office. It is also rumored that he plays a mean game of tennis. We wish Mr. Dover the best of luck and hope his trademark "In the soup" slips are around to bother students for years to come. NN-Ben.

Jake Dresden

History & Economics

Unfortunately for the majority of the student body, Mr. Dresden's duties of Assistant Headmaster and College Counselor (where he makes the impossible, possible) prevent him for teaching more. However, those who have had P.C.'s resident guru know his easy going style and extensive knowledge on the subject. KF- Easily pronouncing unpronounceable long Russian names. FE- "The College Process."

Lydia Elder-Oey

Music

When not teaching or singing with middle schoolers, Ms. Elder-Oey teaches students how to play the various instruments she has mastered. She is interested in political songs (go figure), science fiction, Botany, and biking, and hopes to someday become a conductor of a small professional group. KF- Writing on the board while looking at students and smiling while giving detentions.

Val Erdmanis

Phys. Ed.

Behind Mr. Erdmanis' one-in-a-million smile and friendly disposition lurks a madman. If you don't think so, open up that coffin in the back of his MVP or ask one of the wrestlers about him. Either way you'll find out that Mr. Erd is not the mild-mannered man that he appears to be. UF- Restraining Coach Hirschler KF- Touching renditions of "River Sewanee" and "Oh, When the Saints go marching in."

Liz Flemming

Math

Despite her questionable taste in pro football teams, it's hard not to like Ms. Flemming. Whether it's coaching track or teaching math, Flem-bo always gives her all. Even though she now has a team of her own to teach her deadly jump shot, she still shows it off to the guys whenever possible. She has always been there for us whether we need a ride or don't know which course to choose and we will never forget her. PP- People who think Hoops is just for men.

Bill Gallagher

Spanish

If you take Spanish, then Mr. Gallagher is the teacher for you. It is well-known that Mr. Gallagher is an excellent teacher, but only his students know whether it is because of his technique or the fact that he gives more extra-credit problems than test questions. He is also very accessible to his students, that is, if they can find his office. We hope that he has finally found a permanent home but we doubt it.

Beth Glascott

Science

Why is Ms. Glascott the kind of person everybody likes? That's easy. It's because she teaches a course where her students get to spend a day at the beach, and she makes donuts for her advisees. But that's not the only reason we like her, is it? No, of course not. She is a good teacher and coach (seriously), and she is a very nice person. (We all know it's the trip).

Bob Gordon

Math

Mr. Gordon's omniscient smile is enough to calm even the most nervous student entering his trig. class. His relaxed attitude makes learning seem almost easy, and when you are confused, he is always willing to make an appointment for extra help. Besides being a great math teacher, he also expresses his musical talents with the "sine cosine cosine sine" song, soon to be released on cassette and CD. MMM- "My dame has a lame tame crane . . ."

Bill Goulding

Math

With his shirts from the '60's, Mr. "Brady" Goulding has been very active at P.C. He has taught us long division and has driven us up to Stowe in his Johnson bus. Unfortunately he has settled down and now Mr. Goulding either spends his spare time riding his motorcycle or watching sporting events. This sudden change may have been caused by the departure of his "son", Greg Brady (Mr. Teare).

Randy Granger

Art

If you can survive one of Mr. Granger's "exciting" lectures, you will learn that he is not such a bad guy. "Grange" is not only an excellent art teacher, he is also an outstanding teacher of vocabulary. If in one of his classes you hear him say words like "Frazul" or "Gizmachee," just ignore him and if you do have the nerve to ask him what he is saying, watch out. He's got an Italian-design bullet-proof briefcase (and we all know what that's for).

Jeffory Ann Griffin

Phys. Ed.

Ms. Griffin joins us from Valley Forge Intermediate School to add some depth to our Phys. Ed. department. When not making 9th graders run the mile or teaching them health, she coaches our girls JV Tennis team. Her interests are - well, what do you think- running, tennis, and cycling, and Ms. Griffin hopes to continue her teaching and coaching career at P.C. We wish her luck and may her dreams come true. PP- Stepping on my feet.

Libby Hennessy

English & French

The multi-talented Ms. Hennessy teaches both French and English to P.C. students. "Libby" is also a very active polar-bear soccer player, but childhood injuries have slowed her down (she rode her tricycle into the nettle bushes). Despite those injuries, Ms. Hennessy always seems to have a smile on her face to welcome her students to class.

Chuck Hitschler

Math

Mr. Hitschler is one of our favorite teachers. At the beginning of the year, we all hoped we would get him, but only a lucky few did. One minute he could be talking about logarithms while the next he would be talking about the Eagles. Hitsch was so into bringing sports into the classroom that he started a new course called Real World Math: a course which will make us some money (just kiddin'). This course is more his speed but has some of us asking, "Is this really math?"

Karen Horikawa

Science

Is it Ms. Horikawa or Mrs. Wenigmann? Anyway, she is a very dedicated teacher of science and a well-liked coach of girls athletics. She is a very kind and rational person who anyone can get along with, now. It must be because she was broken in by the Class of 1991 (we have certainly done our job well, and not just on her).

Fred Huntington

English

Mr. Huntington, "Freaky Fred" to most, is back this year after spending a year in England. While on this trip, it is said that he was seen climbing up each of the rocks at Stonehenge. He also took some of his students from our sister school to Parliament to rappel down the side but his attempt was halted by British intelligence. Anyway, we're glad that Fred is back (No, it's not just to get an easy credit). PP- Pete Cordray.

Cheryl Irving

English

Besides teaching English to many Middle School students, Mrs. Irving also finds the time to create intricate bulletin board displays and to coach the Varsity Tennis team. She is known for making her tennis players watch videotapes of tennis guru Arthur Ashe. We wish her luck with the new team and with her energetic students.

Don Jacques

Latin & Greek

Latin and Greek, the two least-recognized languages at this school, have managed to flourish here, in most part due to the excitement and interest Mr. Jacques brings to his classrooms. Though he has one of the busiest schedules, Mr. Jacques still finds time to be involved in the Student Faculty Council, the Greek Society, Turkey Trot, and the Special Olympics. We wish him continued success in the years to come, and hope he finds some way to keep those Greek classes from being so early! KF- Helpful hints (porp-us), Latin Baseball, 7:40 Greek classes.

Shelly Jones

Phys. Ed.

Although she has been at P.C. for three years, Ms. Jones still looks like a student, but in actuality, she is a great swim instructor. All of us that have had Ms. Jones in class know that she uses her vast knowledge of both swimming and the human body to help us become better swimmers. Her dream of there being a varsity cycling team seems to be a reach, but everyone has dreams.

Tom Katman

Physics

What do you call a lazy-eyed, frothing, argumentative and mind-boggling physicist who constantly reminds you about his heightened tolerance of pain? If you don't know, you haven't met Dr. Katman. When not telling INCREDIBLE and RIDICULOUS stories, Doc demonstrates Physics with eggs and bowling balls into his classes. D- To cause a multi-car collision on the Ben Franklin Bridge if he doesn't stop eating Sausage McMuffins and start using his brakes on the way to school.

Lisa Klein

Math & Computers

Ms. Klein is definitely Penn Charter's luckiest faculty member. Not only is her computer room spacious, but also quite scenic, as it overlooks Hitch's picturesque classroom. When not fighting back co-workers who covet her office, Ms. Klein can be found enlightening students with her up-to-date knowledge of Math and Computers. N- A few thousand more cubic feet of space.

Fred LaMotte

Religion

Tucked away in his room in the basement, Mr. LaMotte can often be found confusing his students by giving them assignments in which they actually have to think. He is well known for his community service work and for his merry band of Minstrels. When he is not looking for absence notes, he can usually be found somewhere meditating.

Bert Linton

Math

As P.C. has now entered the sixth decade of the Linton era, Mr. Linton has finally let someone else teach some Calculus. Mr. Linton is still, however the undisputed master of the AP. The inspirational coach of the Golf team and the powerful Math team, his energy and zeal for math is an inspiration to us all. NN- Mr. Limit. PP- People who don't use the Point-Slope Method.

Bruce MacCullough

Math

Mr. MacCullough disproves the theory that math teachers are, by definition, logical thinkers. One third of the Matheletic department (also including Mr. McCloskey and Mr. Hitschler), Mr. Mac is always certain to incorporate the best of the sports world in his math lessons. His classes are relaxed and fun, but be careful not to subtract wrongly or divide by zero or you'll surely draw a flag for illegal mathematical operations.

Ed Marks

History & Economics

A bastion of sanity in the History department, Mr. Marks guides it with a steady hand. You can usually find Mr. Marks patiently explaining the laws of supply and demand or Bismarck's Realpolitik to his students. Unless, of course, it's soccer season, when you know where he'll be. PP- People who think soccer is a wimp sport FE- "Get your foot on the ball" and "30 seconds."

Brian McCloskey

Math

In only three short years of teaching, Mr. McCloskey has become one of the most respected staff members, which his nickname "Skeeter" clearly shows. Seriously, Mr. McCloskey brings some welcomed youth to a Math department that looks like it's right out of "thirty something," and is a great compliment to the P.C. coaching staff. KF- Cooking up a mean "Gravy" D- To take over as head baseball coach when they realize that Mellor is on the payroll

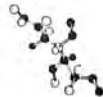

Rick Mellor

Phys. Ed.

For someone who can't remember his own name, Mr. Mellor is remarkably intelligent. He has discovered a way to make a living by doing what he loves: teaching Phys. Ed.? . . . no, winning. By not only participating in gym-class-competition, but also acting as head referee, Mr. Mellor has not lost a game in years. FE- "What's my name?" KF- Cheating in gym class N- To explain the rules to the class before his team starts losing.

Ellen O'Neill

History & Economics

Miss O'Neill is by far one of the nicest teachers at Penn Charter. Between organizing trips to Europe, teaching Social Studies, coaching field hockey, and guiding college-bound students, she still finds time to stop in the hallway and strike up a conversation. By the way, we thank Miss O'Neill for showing Mr. Burkhart the ropes on traveling abroad and we wish her the best in her marriage.

Joe Perrott

English

In order to get the full effect of Mr. Perrott, you can go to one of two places: the classroom or the lacrosse field. In the classroom, Mr. Perrott gives plenty of excellent answers to all the "excellent questions" that he receives. On the lacrosse field, it's not thunder, but Mr. Perrott kindly pointing out to some sophomore who has mistaken the trees for the goal, and has paid the price. Mr. Perrott keeps everybody on their toes regardless of where he is.

Sandra Portnoy

Chemistry

The year P.C. dipped into the free agent market, picking up Mrs. Portnoy from Springside to strengthen an already strong Science Department. Along with Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Portnoy provides a devastating 1-2 punch in Chemistry. Now if Mrs. Davis would only surrender an advanced class . . . N- A free period.

John Schug

English

Aside from telling stories about his old football career with the Pittsburgh Steelers and the infamous Lola, Mr. Schug finds time to teach some English (and good English at that). He can often be seen standing "tall" in front of his classroom at the end of the hall, greeting each "old bean" that passes by, and using his unique ability to make people laugh. In any case we hope Schuggie won't stop wearing his Batman T-shirt under his see-through plaid shirt and we hope to see him for many years to come.

Bahira Sherif

French & German

Miss Sherif is a German and -yes- Arabic teacher who speaks with a funny accent, though she probably finds the English accent very amusing. A woman of many places, she spent last spring in Germany and the past summer in Egypt. When not trying to teach the students how to conjugate verbs, she exposes her German classes to everything new in Germany from reunification to German fast food. She is one of the nicer persons you would want to meet and we hope she will stay at P.C. for many years to come.

Bruce Singer

Art

Mr. Singer is the "Jack of all arts" (wood, clay, and paper mache). He makes us draw hands without looking at the paper and then build them in clay. It's amazing how odd you can make a hand look when you build it out of clay. However, you must always remember that whenever you paint, you must "warsh your brushes" and clean up after yourself, or Mr. Singer will be hurt. FE- "Don't throw clay around!"

Richard Smith

French & Math

(Foo + Ick = Crap) Ahhh yes, Mr. Smith. Smitty has a unique style of teaching. He is a very hardworking man that wants his "kiddies" and "darlings" to learn that which they study. He does this very simply by giving a little moral support to his students. Many people hear his moral support without realizing it: it measures about 80 decibels on the scale of loudness. Thanks for the donuts!

Blair Soffe

English

Before coming to P.C. Ms. Soffe taught and coached at Woodland. When not teaching, Ms. Soffe can be found in the library either grading papers or doing crossword puzzles. Also, she finds time to coach 6th grade Field Hockey and girls JV Basketball. Some of Ms. Soffe's goals are to install independent thinking in his students as well as making them feel comfortable with their writing. A: "basic survival."

Jean Taraborelli

Spanish

Miss Taraborelli is joining the gang here at Penn Charter as our trusty Spanish teacher and club advisor. We know that she will try to persevere with having to see Coop every day, but you take the good with the bad (HA HA!). It seems like there is a tradition that the new teachers only stay one or two years before they leave so we hope that Miss Taraborelli will break this tradition and stay here for a while.

Mark Tompkins

Sixth Grade

Mr. Tompkins, suffering from an identity crisis because he is indistinguishable from his students, abuses his authority by sending his students to get his coffee. A great Social Studies teacher, he teaches middle schoolers about King Tut and Aztec human sacrifices. In his free time, Mr. Tompkins can be found either coaching wrestling in his chucks, finishing his novel, or astounding all with his impressionistic acting skills. FE- "McDonough!?" KF- Gluing shirts together.

Doug Uhlmann

Library & A.V.

He's fast, efficient, and he knows his equipment. He's "Douggy" Uhlmann, and he doesn't mess around. If you ever have a problem concerning certain technicalities in your television or VCR, you just call Mr. Uhlmann. He can be found usually in the library, and when he's not there you just walk the halls of P.C. and he'll be right around the next corner.

Steve Watters

English

Mr. Watters is the tall, bearded man who can often be seen gazing down the hallway as if to say sincerely, "I wish these little brats would get to their classes." Having been the Director of the Middle School for many years, Mr. Watters is proficient at solving all the problems the middle-schoolers might have, and with ease. He is known for his deep and meaningful (yawn) opening day speeches on the first day of school. When you get to know Mr. Watters, you will find out that he is an intelligent and outgoing man.

Peter Wenigmann

Sixth Grade

Even though we have not had Mr. Wenigmann in the classroom since 7th and 8th grade, one can always count on his smile to warm up a lousy day. However, some of us who have been lucky enough to have him as an advisor are still wondering when is he going to bring us donuts! Now a hard-working 6th grade English teacher and soccer coach, "Pete" is also the proud, newly-wedded husband of our favorite 8th grade science teacher. Good luck and thanks for being there.

Ralph West

English

If you ever stroll by the assembly room during a free period and hear the piano booming, you know it is Mr. West. A certified genius on the piano and in literature -you would never know it by his seemingly childlike babbling- he is also known for doing some college counseling: HONG KONG BAPTIST COMMUNITY COLLEGE . . . Yeeaaass. Mr. West is probably the most entertaining teacher P.C. has to offer. Just watching him playing with his pen, dancing, or blurting out: "Yes, well alright" in the middle of the final exam makes one laugh hysterically.

Debbie White

Phys. Ed.

As the girls A.D., Ms. White and her girls are entering their first year ever at the varsity level. Penn Charter has been waiting a long time for this to happen and with the graceful and yet tenacious Ms. White at the helm, we are sure that success is imminent for this year and many years to come. Besides being a great coach, she will always keep you in shape in her Fitness classes whether it is 90 degrees or 30 degrees, so beware.

Andy Wilkins

Social Studies

Although we do not know much about Mr. Wilkins, one thing we do know is the keen sense of humor and originality which he expressed in last year's Talent Show. Mr. Wilkins often brings his fine qualities into his Middle School History classes where he has redefined the "student-teacher" relationship. If not seen patrolling with "The Posse" (Tompkins and C.B.), he is probably coaching soccer and lacrosse with enthusiasm.

Susan Winn

Music & Chorus

Each year Ms. Winn takes the unruly Charter Singers and manages to produce beautiful music with them. Perhaps her cackling laugh betrays a bit of magic involved. Whatever the reason, we hope this crusader for artistic integrity enlivens many concerts to come. Just no more dance numbers, Please!!! A- To get to Italy PP- People who talk during Time Saving Warm-Ups.

Murray Woodburn

Biology

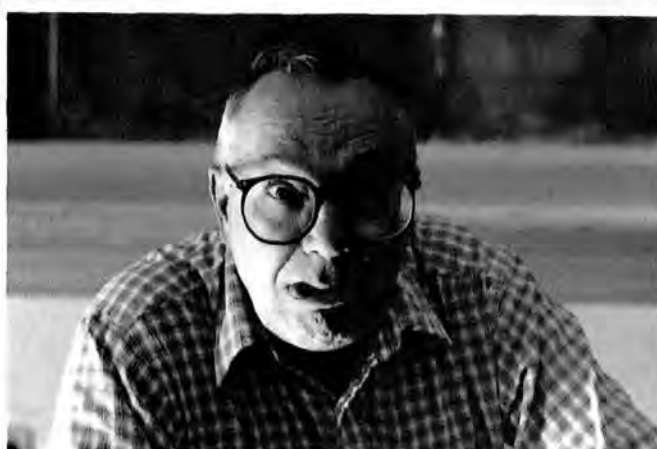

If you hear a loud Canadian voice crying, "That's what a phototroph is all about," or "The ootside of the bark is broon," it's not a wrestling penguin; it's Mr. Woodburn! If not building the set for a play, he can be found teaching mitosis to Biology students, planting trees around P.C., or trying to speak in Friend's Meeting. With his constant smile and hot wrestling tips, Mr. Woodburn has made himself a big part of P.C. and we hope he remains with us a long, long time.

The person in the glass

When you reach your goal in the world of sports and you have worked the big game that day, just go to the mirror and look at yourself and see what the mirror has to say. For it isn't your family or friends or the coaches whose judgement upon you must pass; the person whose verdict counts in your life is the one staring at you from the glass. You may fool all of the world down the avenue of years and get pats on the back as you pass, but your only reward will be remorse and regret, if you have cheated the person in the glass.

All you do is call me
I'll be anything you need -Peter Gabriel

But I know a place where we can go
That's still untouched by men
We'll sit and watch the clouds roll by
And the tall grass wave in the wind
You can lay your hands back on the ground.
And let your hair fall all around me
Offer up your best defense
But this is the end
The end of the innocence -Don Henley

How I wish, how I wish you were here
We're just two lost souls, swimming
In a fish bowl. Year after year
Running over the same old ground.
What have we found? The same
Old fears. Wish you were here. -Pink Floyd

So we must leave while these moments are still called today
Take part in the pain of this passion play
Stretching our youth as we must, until we are ashes to dust until time makes history of us. - Indigo Girls

Tira el arma en la hierba mancillada
de sangre y alquitrán.
El arma que te han dado y que te
pesa,
tírala.
También las piedras del rencor y
el odio;
también, arrojálas.
Deja el mundo del trueno y la tiniebla.
Sal a la claridad.
Corta la rosa con tus manos
libres;
la rosa, córtala.
Toma del brazo a tu mujer, a tu
hijo,
y ponte a caminar.
La mesa del amor está a la vuelta,
la mesa de la paz;
a la vuelta del día con su pájaro;
ahí no mas.

After curing cancer, solving the ozone layer problem and creating world peace, Michael Abrahms decided that humans were no longer smart enough for him so he developed a computer smarter than he so he could communicate with someone on his intellectual level.

Being frustrated with being compared with Casper the Friendly Ghost, Sean Ahlum bought the rights to the famous ghost and made him into the most ferocious professional wrestler of all time.

Al Butler fell off of the band wagon. No one has seen or heard from him since.

After Graduation, Brad Bux moved to Mexico to become a professional cliff diver. He has been seen in local comedy clubs catching Deming's act.

Andrew Deming has a successful career as a stand-up comic. He is best known for his impression of his whining high school buddy, The Buxer.

Joe Cahill missed graduation because he was lifting. Now he makes his living as an opening act for Deming by singing "Take Me Out To the Ball Game" backwards.

After a brief career as a stock broker, Dave Cohen decided that working was not his game. He is now a lifeguard in Long Beach Calif., where he constantly shows off his bronze "Zues-like" body to the local babes.

Chris Wolff took over for Michael Corleone as the head of "The Family". Now everyone has forgotten about Vito, and calls Chris 'Godfather'.

Jim Flore became so fond of SEPTA, he bought it. However, he is still late to work four out of every five days.

After six long years on the Men's Pro Golf Tour, Eric Dollenberg got frustrated not winning any tournaments and disappeared. However, new LPGA champion Erica Dollenberg has some stiking resemblences to our old classmate.

Kwame Kleckley and Les Walker went into the hair-styling business together. They specialize in giving white preppy kids funky lids.

Dan McGonagle and Tim Murphy both went to Penn, got lifeguarding jobs in Stone Harbor, and teaching jobs at Penn Charter. They coached the P.C. Baseball team to 10 straight Inter-Ac championships. They also co-wrote a book with Mr. Mellor entitle "How to Have it All".

John Merritt and Tom Lendvay are both undercover cops in Chestnut Hill. The run a special task force called "K-nappers" where they specialize in busting kids on the golf couse.

Jake West went off the deep end. He is a world renouned astronaut who was the first man on Mars. He now lives there.

Andrew Actman's fourteen year old girlfriend crashed his Stealth. His father then wrote him out of the inheritance. He is now the night manager at Kay-Bee Toy store in the Plymouth Meeting Mall.

Bill Davis is Chris Wolff's right hand man. He takes care of all of the family's problems, big and small.

Peter Kishinschand was in charge of lighting at the 1996 Olympics in Atlanta. He is the electronic guru in the country. Pete still comes back to P.C. and helps out with the productions since no one else knows how to.

Russ Mahrt finally made it to the Mets. He lasted two days of spring training and decided that vending was more his style. He is in charge of vending services at Shea, where he watches all of the games for free.

Adam Katzman and Matt Schoettler run the most successful casino in Las Vegas. However, most of their profits go to Chris Wolff and "The Family".

John Ranieri finally got to Stanford. He paints the lines on the practice field and sometimes even throws batting practice to the J.V.

Derrick Revers took over for Arsenio Hall as the whitest black man in the country.

John Shegda got sick of the "redneck" lable and has become a floral delivery man for Robertson's in Chestnut Hill.

P.J. Kane and Rob Slane found religion and are born again. They have been seen in various airports throughout the world selling literature entitled "Violence is not the answer".

Nick von der Wense sailed around the world after Graduation. Sick of moving, he bought a house in East Falls so he can hang out in the park all day.

Max Fischer decided that he liked French people so much, he moved to France. He now owns the largest vineyard in the world, Cotez de Max.

Jon Wolf runs the zamboni for the Hershey Bears. He is waiting for Schienholtz to retire so the he can take over for the Flyers.

Michael Pine, accounting genius, runs the books for Wolff's family. He is the richest accountant in the world.

Kamian Schwartzman was kidnapped ten years ago. He has not been seen or heard from since.

Garrett Jackson played in the NFL for twelve years as a defensive back. He has now come back to PC to take over for Big Ed Gall as the O-line coach of the football team. He has also gotten his old figure back.

Leo Wyszynski gained one hundred and fifty pounds and became a professional wrestler. In his most recent match he took Casper the Friendly Ghost in a Steel Cage Match.

Andy Bleznak owns the most successful auto detailership in Cherry Hill. Zak is his number one customer.

Marc Swarbrick took the J-PIE nationwide. They are the major rival of the Wolff family in Las Vegas.

Paul Duca went to college and played football again. He got the white cleat award four years in a row. He did get in the last game of his career, but still kept his cleats clean.

Jon Levy moved to Kuwait after the War so that he could lie on the sand and write articles for his imaginary newspaper.

Bill Young married his high-school sweetheart and decided that going out on weekends was not his game.

Sam Scheld makes his living as a jellyfish fisherman. He's loaded.

Peter Cordray is now homeless after blowing his Daddy's money on risky investments in the stock market.

Scott Genarelli is doing 25 to life in Graterford after he went on a killing spree in Western Pennsylvania.

Bret DeBenedictis became an insurance adjuster. He specializes in accidents involving sleeping drivers.

Greg Sawin went AWOL and is rumored to be hiding in the Yukon Territory.

Jim Killinger and Todd White both were killed the day their heads simultaneously exploded once their egos got too big.

Steven Mark became the infamous "Ninja Steve", the first James Bond enemy who successfully killed Bond. He undoubtedly used his lethal racketballs.

Eric Shienholtz is in charge of the Zamboni for the Flyers. He has vowed to never retire so that Wolf will be in Hershey for the rest of his life.

David Kanupke became the star of Halloween 11; this time he beats Haddonfield and kills the entire town.

David Ide was the first customer at Kwame and Les' hair salon. He is the only person in all of Roxborough with blonde dreadlocks.

Jay Mabe sits in front of his television 24 hrs. a day watching the tape of his three-point buzzer beater against Father Judge.

Rajiv Idiculla was Dollenberg's caddy on the men's tour. He disappeared along with Eric, but the rumors of him having a sex change are unfounded.

Dan Donaghy was chosen to speak at commencement. Sadly to report, Dan's classmates were tired of his voice so they rushed him, rolled on him and killed him.

Kevin Hocking was corrupted by a few of his classmates and has become a successful Chipendale in Atlantic City.

Chris Williams became Secretary of Defense under President Michael Jordan. However, everyone still calls him Woody.

After graduation, Jim Smartt decided that he did not want to go to college, so he went on tour with the New Kids and is president of their fan club.

After graduating from Medical School in 2 years, Gwo Chin Lee published his first book, How to Tell Dirty Jokes in Six Languages.

After moving south of the border, George Mark became the most successful fireworks dealer in the country.

Using his unmatched driving expertise, Richard Wolfington is the only man allowed to drive Chris Wolff around.

Tim Nolan finally realized that a white, 5'11", power forward will never play in the N.B.A.. He therefore decided to swim again and made the 2004 Olympic team.

Chris Dilworth is still in Spain and has vowed never to come back.

Ryan Fitzpatrick got so good at announcing basketball games that he decided to make a career of it. He is now the announcer for Hong Kong Baptist Community College's Men's Field Hockey team.

John Brobyn is the head soccer, squash and badminton coach at V.F.M.A.

Father Brian Weick has the largest parish in the city.

Carlton Ruley took over for Dick Butkus as the new teddy bear with muscles.

Bud Green and Peter Levin go on tour around the country together solving chemistry problem sets.

Zak Egendorf's voice was bought and marketed by Apple Computers. Now everyone wants to sound like a computer.

Rob Baker joined his long lost cousin Jim, and is the most vocal evangelists on the circuit.

Mike Downing moved in with the McMahan family after graduation so he could be yelled at in private, too.

Harith Bule got second to Carl Lewis in the 1996 olympics in the 100 meter dash. But, Carl got busted for steroid use and Harith won the gold.

Adam Miller went to Seton Hall and became the next Ramon Rivas. But wait, he is Ramon Rivas.

Brynley Jones bought Australia from his father and lives there peacefully

Billy Gallagher liked P.C. so much that he decided to come back and teach quantum physics to middle schoolers.

Chris Hill went on tour with Bob Dylan and whistles instead of Bob blowing the harmonica.

This year's Cross Country squad had more than its share of close calls this season, experiencing more ups and downs than it did on any opponent's course. Coming into the season the team sported high aspirations for a strong Interac showing, largely inspired by the league's decision to declare Haverford ineligible for a team practice start-day violation. Knowing what lay ahead, the team went to work led by its co-captains, seniors Dan Donaghy and Leo Wyszynski and junior Jeff McCann. Blazing the "earthquakers'" path was the reigning state champion, Shawn Morgan, who once again dazzled opponents by setting two dual meet course bests and easily recapturing the Interac and State titles in record times. Jeff and Dan ran a consistent second and third while Leo, senior Jake West, and juniors Jim Wiant and Jay Hamilton rounded out the top seven. The squad's first meet took them past the nuclear power plant to the hills of Hill, where the grey-shirted harriers stuck it to the inexperienced Charter team. PC gave more of a fight against Philmont, yet still lost by a small margin. The team returned home to nip GFS, and won again against ANC. Entering league competition with an even two-and-two record, the team traveled to CHA, but came up short. After tying Episcopal and challenging a better-equipped Haverford squad, the team narrowly defeated GA. Having fared well at the George School and States, the team ran Champs and finished a respectable third with Shawn, Dan, and Jeff finishing in the top eleven. The future still looks bright for the squad, with only one of the top five runners graduating. Upcoming stars include juniors Bimal Desai, Brad Magarity, and Pete Schoettler, as well as a bevy of freshmen. The seniors, Dan, Leo, Mike, Rob, and Jake, with them all the best of luck in the future.

Undefeated Interac Champs

The 1990 Varsity Football team had a tremendous season. The Quakers went an impressive 7-0 on the way to an Inter-Ac championship. A strong defense along with an explosive offense gave the Quakers an easy opening-day victory over St. Joe's Prep. After man-handling "The Prep" many of the top area teams were afraid to play the strong Charter team. Two non-league games were cancelled, and coach Bill Gallagher filled the void with a pair of scrimmages against Frankford and E.M.C. The Quakers' defense once again stifled both teams as the offense continued to thrive.

After three weeks without a game, Charter posted an impressive 26-20 victory over Valley Forge M.A. The following week a victory over Hill school put the Quakers in good standing for Inter-Ac play.

The Inter-Ac schedule began with a tough Episcopal team. In a down-to-the-wire game the defense did not falter as Sam Scheid kicked a game winning field goal. The next game was not nearly as close as Charter beat perennial powerhouse Malvern, with ease. After narrowly defeating Haverford, in what will be remembered forever as "The Dust Bowl", the Quakers travelled to G.A. to claim an outright championship. On a rainy, cold day the Quakers pulled out a shutout victory as Mike Samuel and Brandon Shephardson teamed up for the game's only touchdown.

Thought of as not having enough talent to competitively stand up to other Inter-Ac teams, the 1990 Soccer team proved a lot of people wrong. Led by captains Kevin Hocking, Bill Young, and Charles Balsamo, the team possessed a second-half spirit that made even the best teams shiver. The first half was sometimes another story, often giving up a "cheesy" goal in the first ten minutes of play.

However, everybody started to realize that this team was for real in the first Inter-Ac game of the season, against ranked Episcopal, playing to a 2-2 tie. Then the team went on a losing streak, and, ironically ended its decline by beating Episcopal in their second meeting. Other league wins came against Malvern in overtime and Germantown Academy.

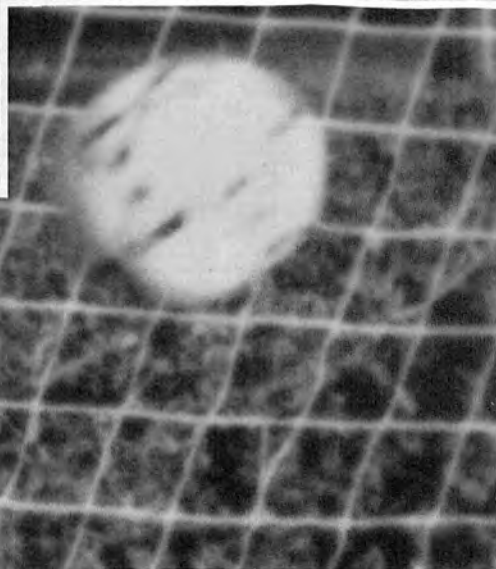

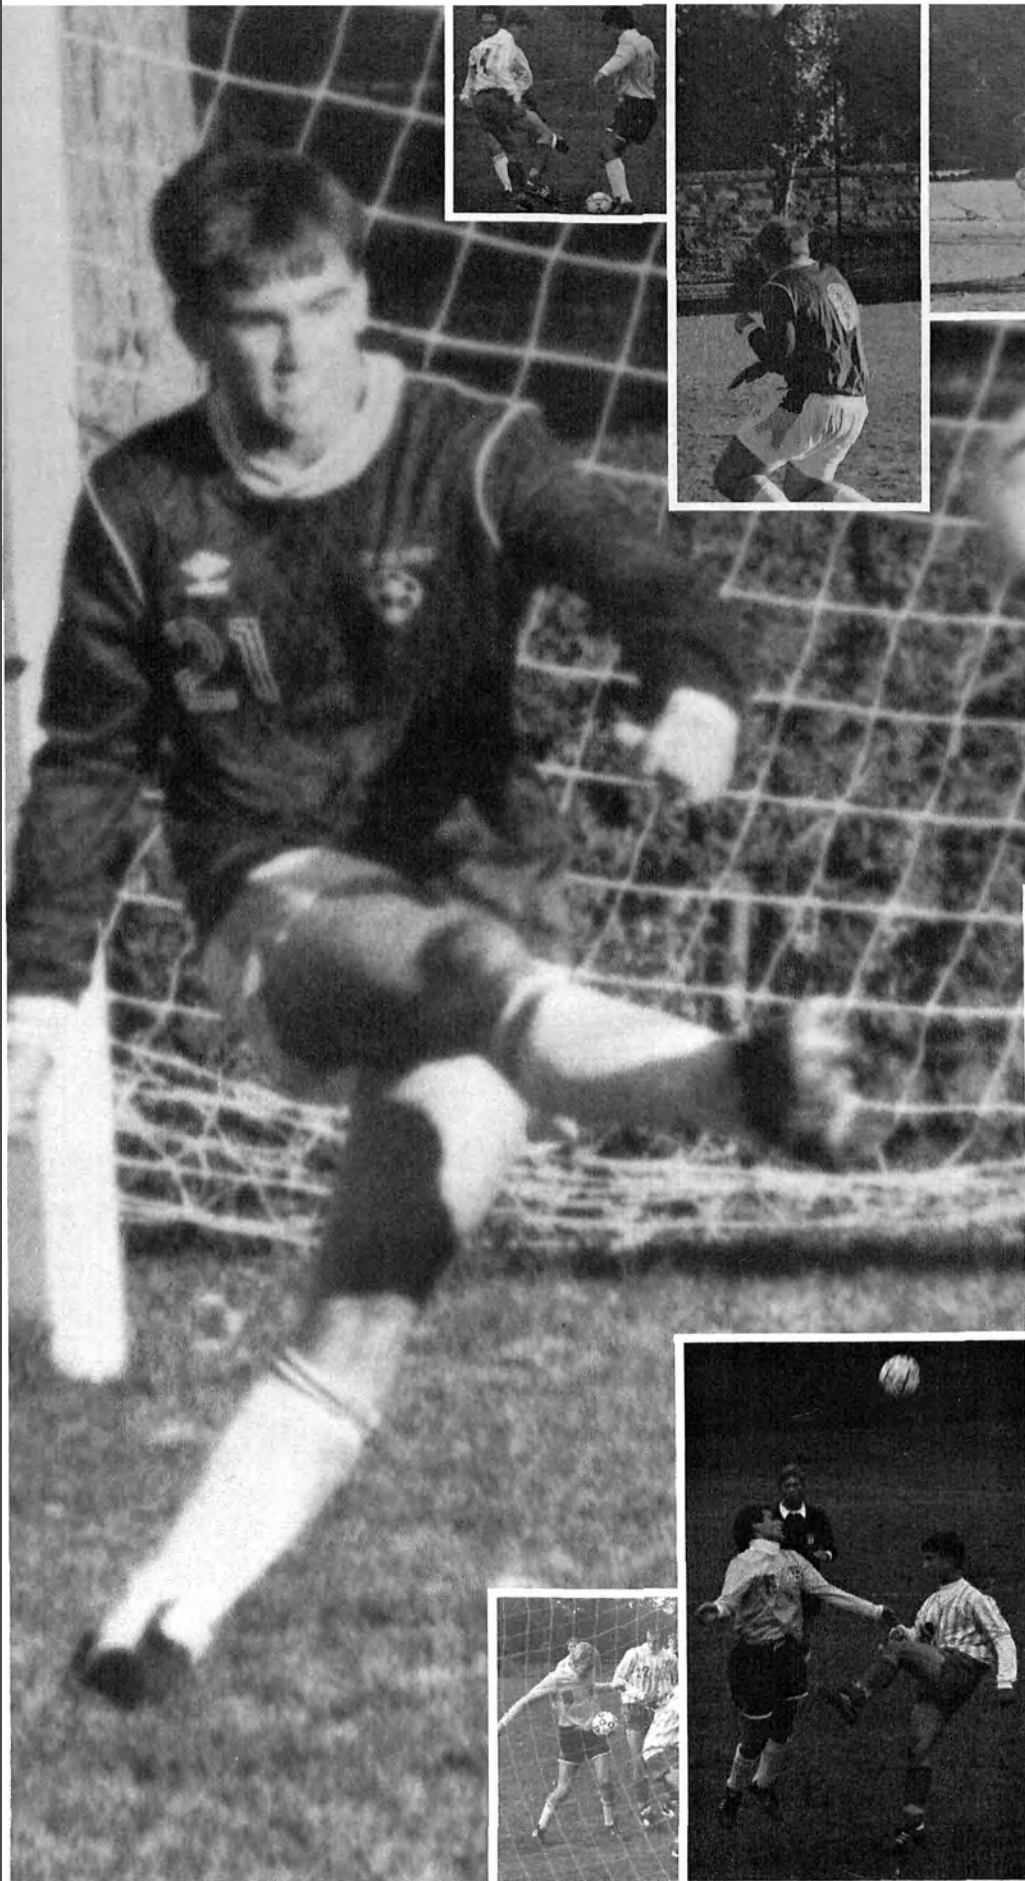

Some highlights of the year were Marc Swarbrick's dazzling display of post-goal glory when he scored to tie Malvern, Gwo's left-footed rocket volley from the 18 against Haverford, Actman's spirited cheering from the sidelines, and Deming's verbal war with GA's players. We hope that next year's team will have the "luxury" of playing soccer (water polo) during PC/GA Day.

The field hockey squad launched into Varsity level competition this fall; it was the team's trial season in the girls Inter-Ac League. For the first time, this year, when August 27 came around, it wasn't just the guys who sweated through extended practices in the heat. Though their record was by no means impressive, most of their game play was. The team seemed to have progressed in all areas of play except for scoring. Coach Rosato, a skillful hockey player herself, deserved much of the credit shaping the team into a Varsity squad. Not including our record and that horrible day at GA, there are some things the girls will remember this season.

With this season behind us, we look for success in the coming year. Remember girls, next year there are no excuses!!

This year's water polo squad had a very successful season, despite having just enough players to make a full team. Luckily, only four players graduated last year, which meant that most of the returnees had some, if not a lot, of experience. Leadership came from seniors Todd White, Jim Killinger and Adam Miller, along with junior Blake

Goodner. The goals at the start of the season were high, and despite the tough losses to G.A. and Hill, the team had some impressive wins against Lawrenceville and North Penn, which showed the true caliber of our squad and the reasons for our high hopes. Sam Scheid filled in at goalie and overcame initial inexperience to grow tremendously in the nets (while he wasn't kicking extra points). The victories by this year's team were not isolated successes, but indications of a team on the rise, and more students are encouraged to give Water Polo a try next fall, to be part of an active, fun, and rewarding sport.

TENNIS

The Girls Varsity Tennis team had a tough season this year. In its first season at the varsity level, the squad completed the season with one win and seven losses. In spite of this record, the team played very competitively against more experienced and older teams.

However, the team has a lot to look forward to next year. Since there are no seniors on the team, it can expect all its players to return. They can also count on some new talent from strong players coming up to the varsity level from both the junior varsity team as well as the very successful middle school team. One can also expect a continuation of exceptional performances in the future, from players like Jamie Wells and Andrea Koplove. Both these singles players had rough schedules going up against ranked players. Andrea Koplove was successful in beating all of her opponents en route to her third undefeated season.

The team, in spite of its record, has played as a team. It went through good and bad times together; from aerobicizing and doing the electric shuffle to M.C. Hammer, to supporting each other during tough three-set losses. This unity will be instrumental in helping the JV and middle school players to make the transition to the varsity level, and will also help in improving this year's record.

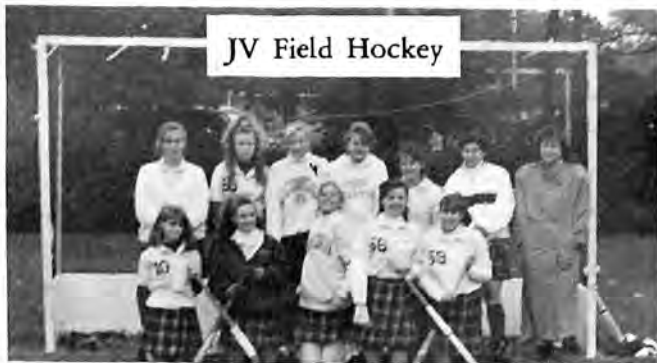

On this shot, Jamie has just:
a) won the point
b) cleared the net
c) cleared the fence
d) killed Mr. Dover

The 90-91 Varsity Boys Basketball Team ended up with a record of 22-5 and captured second place in the Inter-Ac with a record of 7-3. Although the team played a difficult pre-season schedule, the Quakers had key wins over Father Judge and Abington Friends, as well as two first-place trophies for both the Germantown Community Tournament and the I-95 Classic.

Led by senior tri-captains Mike Downing, Tim Nolan, and Jay Mabe, as well as juniors Tim Krug and Devron Owens, the team stormed through its first half of the season and achieved a top 10 ranking, placing it among the best teams in the city. The team entered league competition riding a seven-game winning streak and quickly disposed of CHA. After a narrow victory over Haverford, the team experienced a jolting loss to Episcopal. Undaunted, they defeated Malvern by a point, only to fall to GA the next week. They finished their sweep of CHA, were beaten again by EA, and won another two against Haverford and Malvern. At season's end, the team found itself in sole possession of second place.

Although the team's bench was inexperienced, the other Charter players always contributed to the victories. Bill Gallagher clearly made his presence known in the paint; Jahmall Crandall used his lanky figure to intimidate opponents, and Chuck Balsamo filled in whenever fierce defense was needed (or when Mike messed up).

The seniors wish the best of luck to next year's team, and would also like to thank the coaches for everything.

Well, as usual, the Posse faced some vicious opposition and got fed through the old meatgrinder. However, there were many well-played matches by various players. Scott Gennarelli fed his Episcopal opponent his medicine in the PC courts, and in that same match, Nick "The Flash" Vonderwense nearly beat his counterpart in a skin-wrenching match. Jake West and John Brobyn also lost tough five-game jobs.

This year's varsity team was made up entirely of seniors and one lone little freshman, Mike Levy. A nice kid and playing better than the scouts had predicted, Mike always showed improvement and even whipped some angry seniors from PC -namely Gwo, Hocking, and Donaghy. Although the Squash team struck fear in the hearts of various teams, the competition overall was just too darn fierce. Among the team's goals this season, the players are hoping to upset the top-ranked Junior Squash team for the next Mirror best PC Squash Team Award, given by sports expert William "The Greek" Gullan.

This year's Penn Charter Swim Team was undoubtedly the best in P.C. history. The third place finish in the Inter-Ac does not show the incredible talent and dedication this team had. First time victories over the tough Hill School and Lawrenceville teams highlighted the season. However, the season hit a disappointing snag at Malvern. Not knowing quite what to expect, the team went in flat, perhaps looking towards Germantown Academy. For the first time in twenty years, Penn Charter was going to give the nationally ranked Patriots a run for their money, and the Quakers did. However, they fell short in the final events, and watched G.A. swim by.

The team was led by captains Jim Killinger, Todd White and Andrew Deming. However, sophomore Jason Webb and juniors Blake Goodner, Rob Walters, and Todd Goulding helped carry the team to greatness. Breaking six school records - some as old as sixteen years - and setting two pool records along the way, this year's team was clearly the best in school history.

Next years team will need to come together to replace seven graduating seniors, including undefeated diver Bradley Bux, fellow diver Tom Lendvay, long-distance swimmer Chris Hill, and breaststroke guru Adam Miller. Good luck to next year's team; however, if underclassmen Alex Willis, Ed Yaeger and Mike Baran come through for the team, luck will certainly not be needed.

Led by stud captains Sam Scheid and Leo Wyszynski as well as seniors John Merritt, John Shegda, Harith "Big Mix" Buie, Sean "Magnet Back" Ahlum, and Kwame Kleckley, this year's Wrestling team had its best season in recent history.

Despite early season losses to Catholic League powers North Catholic and LaSalle, the team kept its poise and won the rest of its meets in December. Haverford High and Upper Darby provided the team with a rude awakening which it used as motivation for a winning streak which lasted the next month and a half. Included in this undefeated stint was a stirring victory over Episcopal and a strong performance at the VFMA tourney which gained Penn Charter the team title.

The team rebounded after a defeat in the league championship to State Champion Haverford by destroying CHA for the first time in two years. The team left the mat in sole possession of second place in the InterAc a good finish to a great year.

The Girls Basketball Team, in its first Varsity season, found some very tough competition. This turned out to be a valuable learning experience for all the players, and gave some hope to the Basketball Team of the future.

The team had its ups and downs, finishing with a record of 7-10. The most exciting game, versus Friends Central, went into overtime, where Penn Charter clinched a victory by a score of 39-37. The Lady Quakers also beat the teams of G.F.S., St. Mary's Hall, Friends Select, Springside, and Shipley. By beating Germantown High School in the Germantown Community Tournament, the girls placed an impressive 3rd place.

Led by co-captains, point guard Rachael Steinbrook (a great outside shooter), and Megan Gallagher (a great all-around player), the Penn Charter team never gave up a game easily. Other key players were Sarah LaVan, who sparked the team defensively, and the Freshmen trio of Megan Miller, Carly Lynch, and Sue Burke. Among these Freshmen, Sue was a good penetrator, Carly was a great inside player, and Megan, who broke her ankle in mid-season, was the team's leading rebouncer.

All in all, the '90-'91 Girls Varsity Basketball Team had a good year. Due to hustle, desire, and ambition, the girls were able to beat many teams with more experience. From these experiences, the Girls Varsity Basketball Team will be a force to be reckoned with, in the years to come.

The captains wish to thank Coach Stoubaugh, Coach Snow, and Coach White for their never-ending support and the love they showed the players, on and off the court.

Sweats for you. At thermal equilibrium, a body emits as much energy as it absorbs. Hence, a good absorber of radiation is also a good emitter of radiation.

I will own you all someday.

It isn't easy to resist Garrett's friendliness.

No wonder The Mirror only came out twice this year.

So that's how Gwo does it. How come it doesn't work for Duca.

Just by seeing Pete in class, we know it's not first period.

P E R F O R

The 1990 Christmas Concert was filled with glamour, glitz and frivolity. To begin it all, the Middle School Chorus combined with the Charter Singers as its elite, feared, Quakers Dozen marched in with candles in hand and sang "O Come All Ye Faithful!" in Latin! ("Adeste Fideles"). Then the Middle School Chorus performed various charming songs about the holidays.

Combining neon signs with a masterfully-performed instrumental section, the Chorus performed a very well-orchestrated holiday song. Following this, Quakers Dozen took the stage and performed several well-honed tunes such as "Child of God," with Michael Pine as a soloist, and "Three English Carols." Eric Beitchman then perpetrated his usual innovative solo power in singing "Chestnuts Roasting."

Finally, the Charter Singers all rose and rendered "African Noel," "Christmas A' Comin'" and many, many more -including some sing-alongs. The joyous night was ended with a hearty rendition of "Silent Night" and "Joy to the World." Allelujah!

Christmas Concert

MANAGES

In the winter, the P.C. Players performed the musical "South Pacific." Under the artful direction of Susan Cinnamon and the musical expertise of Susan Winn, the cast retold the story of sailors' and nurses' interactions with natives of the South Pacific during World War II.

The young cast (comprised of mostly underclassmen) shows great promise for the future of P.C. Drama. Sophomore newcomer Katie Eckert brought energy to the role of Nurse Nellie "Knucklehead" Forbush, and rising star junior Will Wright was dashing as Joe Cable. The show also featured performances by junior Meg Kaplan and Susan Bunch as Liat and Bloody Mary, respectively, while Eric Beitchman lent his strong voice to the part of Emile de Beque.

Despite the youth movement, the play was also the finale for Jake West, who bowed out with a hilarious performance as Sailor Luther Billis. On the other hand, "South Pacific" also marked the end of another equally impressive P.C. Drama career, that of All-Everything Stage Crew leader Peter Kishinchand. P.C. Drama will not be the same without them.

1. Sailors Chris Welton, Aaron Kesselheim & Will Wright plot "naval strategy."
2. Ensign Nelly (Katie Eckert) serenades Elime de Becque (Eric Beitchman).
3. Luther Billis (Jake West) looks disappointed as Nelly prepares to "Wash that man right out-a my hair", assisted by Ensign Whitmore (Aliza Goren).

SO THIS IS THE NEW WORLD ORDER . .

Traditionally the Class Record sets aside these pages to chronicle the events and occurrences of its senior year. There are always dozens of memorable happenings that transpire in twelve months, and each one leaves a lasting impression in our minds. These photographs act as catalysts in recalling these events, for each revives the feelings and emotions that were felt when they occurred. The happenings pictured shaped the world and influenced our thoughts, making our year what it was.

In these twelve short months, the world witnessed the demise of the Iron Curtain as the final Communist regimes began to fall. Free elections occurred in Romania, the two Germans were reunited, and the Sandinistas lost general elections in Nicaragua. President Bush reached several agreements with Mikhail Gorbachev, pushed to outlaw flag burning, and watched the Census Bureau tabulate the number of homeless in America. The Supreme Court continued to debate abortion and obscenity, and David Souter was sworn in as a Justice. People rallied behind Nelson Mandela and fought for a cleaner environment on Earth Day, and nature proved its might with a Phillipino earthquake and Mississippi-basin floods. Cincinnati won the World Series, Georgia Tech & Colorado split the national title, Germany won the World Cup, and Mike Tyson lost the title. Pete Rose got out of jail, and Buddy Ryan was out of a job. Still, none of these events seems comparable to what has occurred since August, and is still continuing even as this annual is put to press. In 1991, the United States went to war.

On January 16, at roughly 6:35 in Philadelphia, bombs began to fall on Iraq. Television news coverage brought a distant attack home to everyone's living room, and nearly all the other events of the past eleven months were forgotten. In August a border dispute between Iraq's President Saddam Hussein and Kuwait became an international crisis when Iraqi troops invaded the tiny emirate. Saudi Arabia, fearing its security was at stake, sought protection from both the U.S. and the United Nations. President Bush, in accordance with U.N. resolutions and supported by a 28 nation coalition, drew a "line in the sand": Operation Desert Shield. These defensive forces were soon enlarged to offensive capabilities, and the U.N. authorized them to attack if Iraq did not withdraw from Kuwait. Saddam had five months to remove his troops, but he did not. The January 15 deadline came and went, and nothing happened for a day. This peace, however, was shortlived.

With Congressional support, President Bush began the "liberation of Kuwait". US, Canadian, British, French, and Kuwaiti planes left their bases at 4:30 EST on a northward flight to Iraq, arriving at their targets virtually undetected. They began to bomb military targets with initial success and few casualties. Iraq launched Scud missiles towards Saudi Arabia and Israel, seeking to weaken both the defenses and resolve of the coalition. As we prepare to go to press, the air raids continue, while the ground forces await their orders. The results of this war may not be clear until our first class reunion, or perhaps even later.

At home we continue to debate the why and wherefores: war, peace, right, wrong, history, economics, and freedom. Nearly everyone supports our troops in the Gulf, yet the policies of the President are less favored. Students and faculty at Penn Charter have taken an active role regarding events, whether it is involvement in the PC Peace Committee, silent vigils, or speaking in Friends Meeting. The war pervades all thoughts and discussions, and haunts many of us as we sit in solitude. For all of our sakes, we hope that the hostilities can be resolved, lest anyone should die an unnecessary death. This is what clouds our images of 1990-91.

Yearbook Staff

To the Class of 1991,

The completion of this school year not only marks the end of our high school experience, but also concludes 302 years of single sex education. Already changes have altered the environment around us, and longstanding traditions have been discontinued in the sweeping transformation. In producing this book, we have tried to preserve these traditions in a way that reflects both the present and past classes' characters. In doing so, our passing will forever be remembered in Penn Charter's history. Our class, despite its broad diversity, displayed unity and pride worthy of the legacy bestowed upon us. We carried ourselves with spirit and style. Although we did things that differed from other's viewpoints (library, pep rally), we did them together as a class. Such unity is a rarity, and it is a suitable finale for the all-male era. This book represents all that we did, both good and bad, and will remain after we have all departed. It is our "fossil", revealing what we were as the last all-male class. We hope that the classes of the new era will revere those past traditions and remember our legacy, for we are true OPC.

Sincerely,

Daniel Donaghy
James Kill

Maintaining the age old ideals of Quakerism and peace, we felt it was only right to share our yearbooks success with our editor counterparts at The Mirror. Unfortunately, none of them were around, so we found other ways of occupying our time.

Special thanks to Phil Klein and all of the people at Jostens. Thanks also to Neil Weidman of Davor Photo.

Most importantly, we would like to thank Faculty Advisor John Burkhart for all of the work he has done to help complete this book. He does far more work than anyone can imagine. We appreciate his going loony on us (Jim) every once in a while so we could get our work done. We would have no book without him.

What's in a name?

A company name is as good as those that represent it and stand solidly behind it. At Atkins our professional sales force put itself strategically ahead of the competition. Measure for measure our sales personnel is well qualified, widely experienced and vastly knowledgeable in the office products industry which translates into faster, more reliable and precise service for you. Those large, impersonal companies with their inexperienced part-time help can't, nor do not care to, measure up to the Atkins brand of service. We've built our reputation inch by inch and are proud to boast that by any measure you can't do better than Atkins.

When you were born into this world you knew little more than your mother's security.
As you grew, the world continued evolving but you were making very little impact.
Now, as a young adult, you understand the world,
become a part of it and make your difference.
You have the inspiration, the dreams, the integrity, and most of all the knowledge to succeed in all you do.

To Kevin and all the graduates of 1991,
Use what you know and know all you can.
Good luck and God speed!

Spiritualization

Invictus

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the Pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.
Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed.

Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds, and shall find, me unafraid.

It matters not how strait the gate,
How charged with punishments the scroll,
I am the master of my fate:
I am the captain of my soul.

-William Ernest Henley

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated don't give way to hating
And yet don't look too good, not talk too wise;

If you can dream - and not make dreams your master
If you can think - and not make thoughts your aim,
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two imposters just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools;

If you can make one heap of all your winnings,
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the Will which says to them: "Hold on!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings, nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And - which is more - you'll be a Man, my son!

A TOAST TO THE CLASS OF '91
Congratulations from
Leo, Gwo, and Pete

My page is full, but I still have something to say. I'm the editor so I can do this. Thank you to all the people who have influenced my life, for you have guided my growth and developed my thoughts. You have meant so much to me, and I fear I have no way of repaying the great debt I owe you all. I do know that I now go out to the world on the proper path, and all of my success will be shared with you. So to Mom, Dad, Liz, G'pop, Me-Me, family, friends, teammates, faculty, staff, Kapers, counselors, opponents, and most importantly, my classmates (AM, DR, LW, GL, JW) I love you, I will miss you, and I'll always be grateful. And don't worry Dumbunny, I didn't forget you. See you all soon.

Love,

P.S. Don't fire Burkhart, we made him do it. He's still a clown, though.

When traveling life's highways remember:

Every man has got a hobby,
Every poet has some fault,
Every sweet contains its bitter,
Every fresh thing has its salt.

Every mountain has a valley,
Every valley has a hill,
Every ravine is a river,
Every river is a riff.

Every fool has got some wisdom,
Every wise man is a fool,
Every scholar is a block-head,
Every dunce has been to school.

Every bad man is a good man,
Every fat man is not stout,
Every good man is a bad man
But 'tis hard to find him out.

Every strong man is a weak man,
you may doubt it as you please,
Every well man is a sick man,
Every doctor has disease.

The 1991 baseball season was a roller-coaster that unfortunately ended on the downside. The season started in Florida, where the team became better acquainted and began to learn to work together as a unit. After twelve days of baseball in the sun, the team was ready to begin the season. Following an opening loss, they won three straight. The Interac season commenced and the team continued to bounce up and down: losing the first two, winning the next 2, and losing the last six. Although the team had a poor record, team members worked together and had fun. Seniors John Ranieri and Tim Murphy along with sophomore Courtney Batts achieved all league honors while senior Sam Scheid and Batts were selected as Carpenter Cup team members who play in Veterans' Stadium. Dan McGonagle and Russ Mahrt were two other seniors who helped to keep the team together when difficulties arose. Coaches Mellor, McCloskey, and Gubicza did a great job this year and know that next year will be different. The baseball program has a lot of young talent, so the future looks bright. The underclassmen of this year's team want to thank the coaches and wish the seniors good luck in the future.

The outlook was very positive for the 1991 Interac Golf team's season. Everyone returned to the squad except 1990 Interac champion Tom Vizza. However, senior captain Eric Dollenberg, aided by three other seniors Matt Schoettler, Andy Bleznak and David Kanupke, provided a strong nucleus for the team.

This team decisively won the Interac

Championship for the second year in a row. The team dominated the league, winning all Interac matches except one loss to Malvern early in the season. In fact, PC tied an old scoring record against Chestnut Hill with a 242.

Interac individual championships were held on May 22 at Sunnybrook Golf Club where Dollenberg won by five shots. His 79

It was a great year for the golf team, adding one more championship to Coach Linton's list. Although the team will lose four seniors, it will be led by the strong play of Mike McDonald next year.

Once again this year, Dr. Jekyll & Mr. Hyde came to play with PC's Lax team. While Dr. J seemed to be in control most of the season, Mr. H paid a visit during the league games, and was looming ominously at the home opener against Long Island power Garden City. That rude start was replaced by non-league wins over Mountain Lakes (of scenic northern New Jersey) and Conestoga (of scenic Berwyn). Episcopal, Haverford, and GA all knew that home-field advantage means little to such generous hosts as the Quakers, and we blew some opportunities despite some supportive crowds. Ridley, Hill and West Chester East were all victims of the "Scrappy Bunch," as the defense of Gennarelli, Goulding & Gallagher in front of netminder PJ Kane gave the offense opportunities to score. The attack included such gunners as Bret De, Hocker, Peter McD, and Young Bill (in the clutch), all fed nicely by assist-meister Donnelly. All of this talent gelled (as is our custom) by playoff time, as we turned the tables on the Main Liners to gain the first-round bye (sorry, Kel), and blew past Henderson & Springfield to meet Episcopal in the State Finals. Whose cute idea was "Deja Vu 2?" Alas, with 0:54 to go EA scored the winner, shook the monkey off their backs, and left us with the satisfaction of a season well played, concluded by a gutsy, exciting and heartbreaking title match. Next year, Mr. Hyde is not allowed on our field.

Haverford School	loss

This year's varsity tennis team improved greatly from last season. A strong group of skillful young players and upperclassmen earned a 5-5 Interac record. Playing first singles Bill Gullan contributed steady tennis as did #2 Eric Pressman, #3 Eric Ross and #4 Mike Levy. Once again doubles were the strength of the squad; Todd White and Kamian Schwartzmann played #1. Scott White and Peter played second doubles and Adam

Abel and Abramowitz held the third doubles position. Second year coach Lawrence Newton led the team to an impressive and dramatic win over perennial power Chestnut Hill Academy. Gullan tied the match 3-3 with an upset win in singles, and Abel and Abramovitz clinched it with heroic performances. Wins were also scored over Holy Ghost, Germantown Friends, Haverford College JV, Germantown Academy (twice), Malvern Prep (twice). One of the tennis team's best assets this year was a body of faithful fans that helped to contribute to the team's spirit and morale. The team would like to thank these supporters and Coach Newton for their efforts that made this season a positive one. Finally, the underclassmen wish the graduating seniors the best for the future.

Like clockwork, Penn Charter once again ran away with the Interac track championship. Led by senior Co-captains Al Butler, Rob Baker, Dan Donaghy, Les Walker, and Leo Wyszynski, the team captured its seventh consecutive title and its tenth title in the last eleven years. The '91 squad kept up Coach Bonnie's winning ways by being undefeated in the league and suffering only one loss all season. Laden with talent, the team showed its might by defeating public league champs Olney and by challenging Catholic champs Bishop McDevitt. A record-breaking sprint relay led the team to victory at the Hill Relays. Tory Olshansky and Leo set pole vault records, and Shawn Morgan established a new best in the half (800). Thanks to Penn Relays winner "Doc" Brown of CHA, PC went into its final meets focused on once again capturing the league title. The squad crushed the rest of the Interac at champs, its great depth assuring the victory. Standouts included Shawn Morgan, who is the first in the meet's history to win all three distance races, and Rob Baker, who took both hurdle events. The hurdlers also took four of five places in the 110's. The seniors would like to thank the coaches and wish the rest of the team luck in the years to come. Keep the dynasty alive!

A learning experience is the best way to categorize the Varsity Girls Lacrosse team's 1991 season. The team faced top-notch competition this year, playing against many highly-acclaimed teams such as New Jersey State Champions, Shawnee High School, Notre Dame and the eventual Interac Champions, Episcopal Academy. Whether in wind, rain or scorching heat, the team prepared diligently for the season under Coach Debbie White. Although not all of the high aspirations of the team were achieved, the team had a satisfactory season during their trial year in the Interac. The team got off to a running start, easily dominating teams in the first part of the season. Disappointment came in a number of close Interac games.

ARTS FEST 1991

The 1991 Arts Festival had yet another spectacular kick-off with the Spring Concert. The Middle School began the show with songs about answering machines and friends, putting the audience in a festive mood. Quakers Dozen then took the stage in their top hats and vests and performed a medley of songs from the twenties, with solos by Aliza Goren, Mike Pine, and Will Wright. Charter Singers approached the stage, poised to finish the concert and to ensure that it was a smashing hit. They sang a medley from Starlight Express and the Best of Motown. A highlight of Arts Festival was Joe Barker, who painted a watercolor of the school. The production of The Philadelphia Story was the culmination of a very enjoyable Arts Festival.

Captains John Merritt, blue, and Garrett Jackson, yellow, led the Blue and the Yellow through the 98th annual Color Day contest. Blue held its lead through the events up to the eleventh grade, when Yellow gained a slight lead over Blue. Blue still had a chance at winning, but they lost the Tug-Of-War to the Yellow, who pulled off yet another victory.

SENIOR PROM

Assistant Headmaster and Head College Admissions Advisor Jacob Dresden is leaving Penn Charter after twenty-one years of service to become Headmaster of the Collegiate School in New York City. He plans to teach Russian history and perhaps to develop an exchange program there; we are more than positive that he is ready and able to reach these goals. Mr. Dresden will be living in the Upper West side of Manhattan - a definite culture shock from rural Devon. He is looking forward to the exciting change in lifestyle, but he still plans to partake in his favorite outdoor activities such as tennis and biking. Mr. Dresden says that he will miss the people at Penn Charter most, and he hopes to continue to maintain contacts here and to visit with old friends. We want to thank him for all that he has done here and wish him the best of luck in the years to come. We are sorry to see you go, Mr. Dresden.

In spring and early fall, when the windows are opened, we enjoy the piano, vocal, and recorder music that come from lower school music teacher Marion Kalenian's room. Part of PC for twenty-six years, she is now retiring. Lower schoolers are influenced in many ways by Kalenian — they read music, play the recorder, sing and act in the winter and spring productions, and play in the bell choir. Her hard work-ethic and emphasis on learning have molded many into premier Penn Charter musicians. Her departure constitutes a great loss for the community as she has revolutionized the lower school music program and has initiated various service projects as well. In 1977 she was awarded the JFG Distinguished Teacher Award, and she also received the Class of 1689 Award in 1990. Her ambitions for retirement include traveling, reading, and relaxing. "I will always have warm memories of the dear friends I've made at PC," she said. "I will really miss the wonderful warmth and the closeness of the faculty, staff, administration and students. They've been like a family to me." We'll miss her too.

Molly Delaney and her husband, Mark, are going to Kenya next year to work in a village mission. We are excited for her but we will miss her, too. She introduced us to a new friend, Julian of Norwich, a medieval mystic anchoress, and gave some welcome energy to the dramatics dept. Please come back soon, Miss Molly!

James Hasset joined the music department this winter after some PC experience as a substitute. Quickly he has made his mark here teaching, working with instrumentalists late into the afternoons, and even performing with students and other faculty members in concerts. He has a great deal of enthusiasm, and we look forward to hearing more from him.

Two new faces were added to the Kitchen Staff this year. Bill Barry filled in following Carl Boyd's untimely death, and has stayed on as dietician. He brings not only Navy experience but homemade soup recipes. Dolores Lally filled in when Blanche Ellison needed surgery, and has graced the cafeteria with her charm & good humor.

Even a yearbook that achieves high critical acclaim is not immune to a few mistakes. We regret to own up to the following corrections:

On p. 68, two "lifers" were inadvertently omitted. We hereby present their lower school photos. Since we did not identify any of those on page 68, you get to guess as to who these guys are, too.

Errors are understandable, but in 30 point headline type, they are inexcusable. On page 85, please read David Joseph Kanupke. We apologize to David and his family for omitting the second "k".

On page 174, please add Scott Gennarelli to the copy staff. He claims he did some writing for the book, and we have no reason to doubt his word.

Commencement

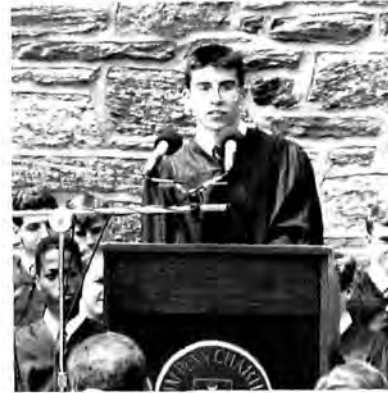

"Decide upon your goal, then use all that you have learned at Penn Charter to help you reach it. As the old track adage goes, 'running is 50% mental'. Remember that when you go running into life, remember the values you embodied as a class, and keep your head in the game. Most importantly, remember that there are always others who will support you, encourage you, and inspire you. They are all around you, and all you need to do is keep your ears open to hear their love. That is true unity; that is your greatest edge." -Daniel Donaghy

Ok, Baby!

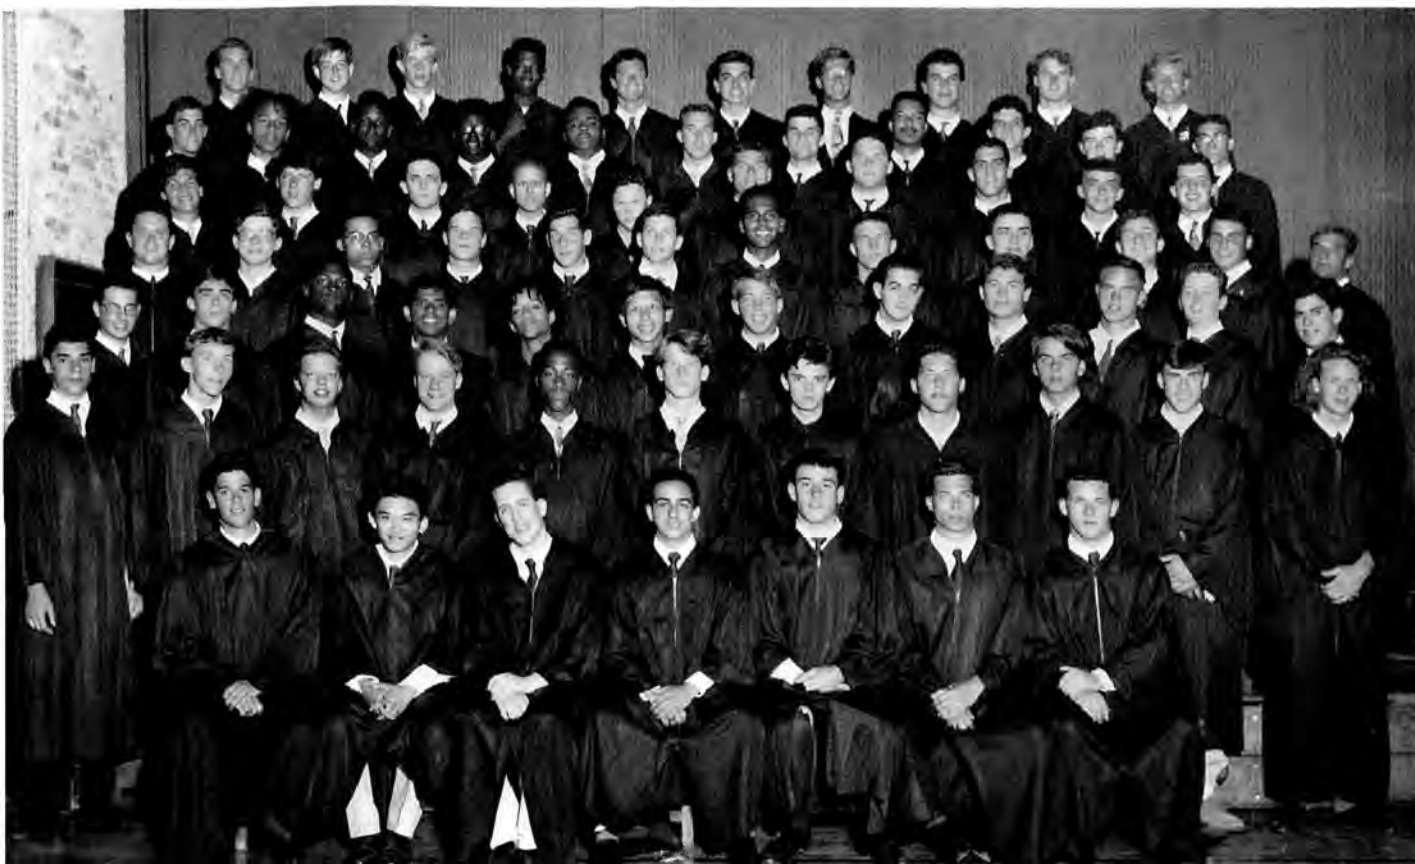

"The most important lesson Penn Charter has taught me is that the primary reason for education is not to benefit any one person, but for educated individuals to pass on what they have learned to benefit all. As educated individuals we have the unquestionable duty, regardless of future professions, to return what we have learned to society and to possibly offer to others the same grand opportunity which we had." - Leo Wyszynski

"I remember often wishing my dad were here to share some of the special moments in my life - today he is here sharing this special moment. Questions which I had to ask myself were, 'Don't they love me, don't they want me by their side?' The answers came as I grew, and with it understanding also. I realized that my parents were making a huge sacrifice and I also realized that the void I felt they felt as well. . . My classmates, by attending Penn Charter, your parents have given you an advantage, the chance, to better yourselves. Don't ever take this chance for granted." - Gwo-Chin Lee

Did we tell you . . .

Now that you are almost grown, we look back and ask ourselves; Did we tell you?

Did we tell you all that we meant to tell you, all that we felt was important? Did we tell or was it lost in the shuffle of our everyday lives. The busy full days when we taught and didn't know it. What did we teach? Was it strong? Was it good? Will it root you in something real that will allow you to grow with a firm and sound foundation? Did we tell you . . .

Did we tell you to love, not with a fair-weather love but with a love that accepts and cherishes unconditionally. Love not with a quick and passing love, but with a love that is a quiet peace within the heart. Did we tell you to be thoughtful. Not to be a martyr or doormat to be trod upon, but to be aware of other people and their needs. To meet others with awareness and within your own framework be able to meet them halfway and on occasion go the other half joyfully.

Did we tell you to be courteous not to display empty manners with no meaning but to live the courtesy born of caring, and to express this caring through the small formalities and customs born of the years.

Did we tell you to be bold. To be not afraid of the unknown, but to live life to the fullest and meet each new experience with joy and anticipation. And did we tell you to be cautious. To temper your daring and sense of adventure with good judgement and consideration.

Did we tell you to serve other people if only in a small way. There is growth and satisfaction in being part of something larger than yourself and your life will be richer for knowing this.

Did we tell you to maintain a sense of the past. To recall and uphold all that is best and meaningful in our country and in our society. But never be afraid to speak out where you don't believe or where there is room for improvement. Work for what you believe, but work in a positive way within a structure of order and reason.

Did we tell you to find a part of nature that speaks to you, then know it intimately and well. For some it is a mountain peak, for some a windswept beach. Find your own and in it find your restoration.

Did we tell you to laugh, to dance, to sing. There is a lot in life that is hard, but take it as it comes and find the good . . . and make time to dance.

Did we tell you to be a creature, to explore the seed within you. Find your creative spirit and let it grow.

And did we tell you the challenge of being a man, the challenge of balancing your worlds, the need to achieve and the need to nurture, the need to be strong and the need to be tender, the need to meet the tests that life brings yet always keep love at the center, letting it be the star by which you set your sail.

Did we tell you these things as we went along the way? If we did, we are humbly grateful. If we did not then you must choose for yourself. If it has meaning accept it and make it your own. If it does not, discard it. Your life is yours to build as you choose.

And did we tell you . . . we hope it will be a good life.

-Elizabeth Knapp

I'm Shoved by the herd,
My feet plowing the ground.
I will them back,
Away from the Edge.
Still they fail to see.
Their eyes are set upon themselves.

Not Me.

They soak up life
as they hurry on,
And share so little with me.
Though I greed for more,
Soon they will leave and I will watch
with feet covered in dust
But Today,
I try to push them back
