Up to a point a man's life is shaped by environment, heredity and movement and changes in the world about him; then there comes a time when it lies within his grasp to shape the clay of his life into the sort of thing he wishes to be.

From the Head of School

I am delighted to offer congratulations to the Class of 2007. The class has contributed much to one another and has been very influential in helping each member of the class "take shape." I am especially pleased to acknowledge the contributions of the class as a whole including work in the classroom, on the stage, and on the playing fields.

The concept of "taking shape" is one that applies to each of us. It has been my deep honor to be part of the school as it has taken shape over the last 31 years. From an all male school of 700 to the current vibrant, coed school of 900, there are some constant factors that have influenced me as they have influenced class members as the shaping process has moved forward.

One of those dominant factors has been the strength and dedication of teachers. Faculty members set an example by their dedication to learning, by their care for others, and by their own concept of service. Those examples are part of the shaping process beginning with the lower school.

Students have direct influence on each other. I have spoken with many members of the class who have commented on the value of the diversity within the school and the opportunity that diversity provides to learn from people with different backgrounds and perspectives. Another shaping influence is the fact that this is a class of individuals of extraordinary talent in a variety of fields. One of the great strengths of the school is the context that it provides for learning. Students are not afraid to achieve here and are not hesitant to imagine what they can contribute to the society.

Another quiet, yet pervasive shaping force is the influence of Quakerism on each of us that goes through this school regardless of our own religious faith. Embracing the idea of looking within each of us to be in touch with the values and beliefs that are important to us shapes how we develop. Most of us are formed in part by how we choose to serve others. I am sure that as alumni you will share the belief of innumerable graduates that the moments spent together in Meeting for Worship take on added meaning in subsequent years.

We have all "taken shape" in a variety of ways over the years. We continue to develop throughout our lives and the concept of life long learner applies to each of us. You have wonderful days ahead of you, and you are part of a school that will welcome you back with open arms as you return to share with the faculty members and community members who have contributed so much to the dynamic form that you have taken as a class and as individuals.

Dedication

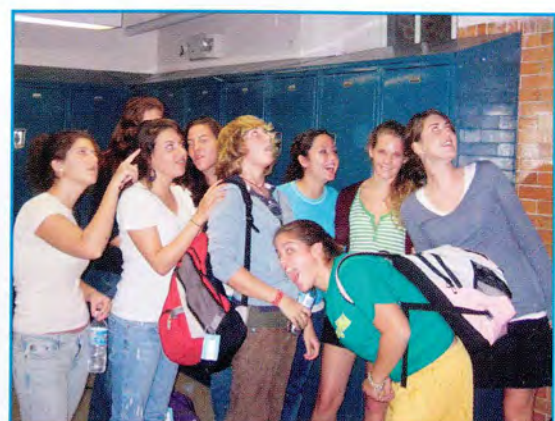

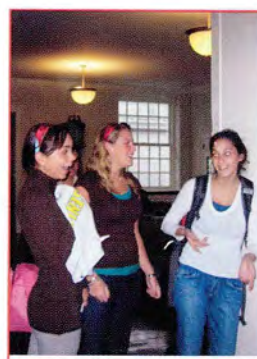

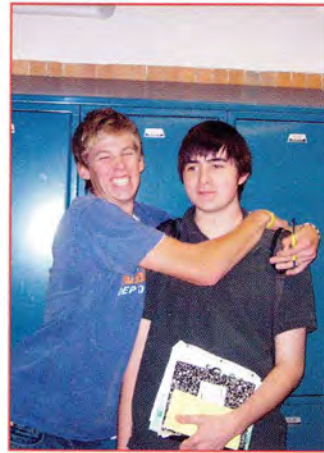

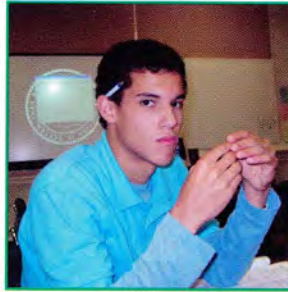

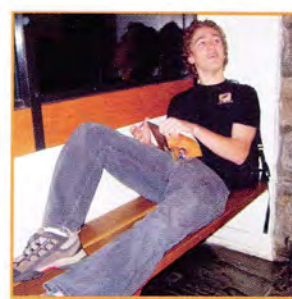

On behalf of the Class of 2007, we are delighted to dedicate the Class Record to Dr. Earl J. Ball III for his outstanding leadership and commitment to Penn Charter as Head of School for the last 31 years. Dr. Ball has made many extraordinary contributions to the Penn Charter community. Since Dr. Ball arrived in 1976, Penn Charter has changed dramatically. Dr. Ball is responsible for the integration of coeducation, the large growth in diversity, scholarship aid in the Lower School, the expansion of the arts and music programs, enriched academic programs, and extensive community service and service learning programs. Dr. Ball has also conducted many successful capital campaigns, including the Frameworks for the Future Campaign, which raised 45 million dollars for the preservation and growth of Penn Charter and its Quaker principles. His leadership has led to enhancements to the campus, which include the Richard B. Fisher Middle School, the Raymond R. Dooney Field House, the renovated swimming pool, the new Lower School playground, the squash courts, and the impending construction of the performing arts center. Though credited for the immense evolution of the face of Penn Charter, Dr. Ball's commitment goes deeper than the physical presence of the campus. Dr. Ball is resolutely dedicated to the students, faculty, staff, parents, and alumni, and his exemplary leadership is evident in the strong and steady influence that he has had upon the school and the community. The new auditorium in the performing arts center will be named in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Ball. Pam's devotion to her husband and family is rivaled only by her devotion to students over the last 25 years. Penn Charter students and graduates have been the beneficiaries of patient, principled, and gracious guidance. Dr. Ball has made an indelible impression on the oldest Quaker school in the world, and he has worked hard to keep Penn Charter in the echelon of the greatest schools in America.

Thank you, Earl!

I first want to thank my parents. Mom, you are the best mother a guy could have. I can talk to you about anything and feel safe with you around. You have always been there for me and I thank you for that. Dad, you are the biggest influence on my life. You have motivated me throughout my life and pushed me to excel to my full potential. You are the most focused and determined man I know and I am proud to be your son. I also want to thank all of the Penn Charter teachers who taught me over the years. Thanks to you guys I never had a class where I didn't have to work hard in order to earn a good grade. Mr. Mellor, you have been a great coach and mentor for my five years at PC. I can't thank you enough for the help and advice you have given me. To all my boys, you know who you are. Whether it was sitting in the back of the pick-up or basically every Friday and Saturday night, we had some good times together. We had a good run while it lasted and you guys couldn't have made school any more fun. "Til next time we meet, I'll bring the drinks, I'll bring the drinks." The one thing that I have learned along the way is to not compare yourself to any other guys. You won't be able to jump as high as some people; you won't be able to run as fast as some people either, but you can become the best athlete you're going to be and maximize your potential. And it all comes through hard work.

Mom & Dad- I am amazed at how you raised us so successfully. You are the two best parents a kid could ask for, raising me with a mix of laughter and guidance. No matter what is happening in my life I know I can count on you for aid and support.

Dad, you taught me how to be a man and you are a great role model. Mom, I thank you for all the things you have done to ensure my happiness over the years. I love both of you!

Hannah- Thanks for being a great friend over the past 18 years. I know we will always be there for each other. I know that you will be successful.

To all my friends- It's been a great several years in the classrooms, on the field and all of the events. Best of luck to everyone in the future, and remember to stay in touch. Class of '06, sorry I couldn't finish it with you guys.

I also would like to thank all of the teachers and coaches who have influenced me during my high school career. Thanks for helping me and encouraging me to always do my best, especially Mr. McCloskey, Mrs. Ball, Mr. Hitch, Mr. McDonough, Mrs. Irving, Mr. Zuccotti, Mr. Weisel, Mr. Fitz and Mr. Clarke.

Robert and Carl – This is corny, but high school goes by fast. Take hold of it and make every moment count.

Mom, Konstanze, Dad, and Julie – Thanks for being there for everything. You guys have helped me out of every mess I have gotten myself into and continue to help me. From college visits to every other time that I have needed you. Thanks a lot guys you can't possibly understand how much I appreciate what you have done.

C-J, Sarah, Julie, Isabel, Steve – Guys, I would not be here without you. You guys kept me sane through the last four years. Honestly, I will miss all of you, and will miss all of the good times we have had together from South street to the Shore, to being Power rangers on Halloween, all excellent occasions. I will miss all of you.

To the Class of 2007 –WE DID IT!

Dominique- I'm so lucky to have found a person who is as loyal and caring as you. I could not have asked for a better best friend. Thank you for always being there for me and I can't wait to see where life takes us.

All of my Friends- Thank you for all of the wonderful memories. These past four years have been unforgettable. You guys are the best! Good luck.

Amanda and Colleen- I am so lucky to have you as my sisters. I am so proud of both of you and learn new things from you every day. You are my best friends and I love you very much. I'll always be here for you.

Mom and Dad- Words cannot express how thankful I am to have you in my life. You have supported me and given me many wonderful opportunities that I am so grateful for. I would not be the person that I am today without you. I love you.

Memory is a way of holding onto the things you love, the things you are, the things you never want to lose.

These past thirteen years have gone by so quickly. I don't think I would have been able to get through them without the help of my friends. Izz- I admire you so much for all that you've done. You are the bravest person I know and I love that you're not afraid to stand up for what you believe. Jul-You are one of the funniest people I know. Lunch would not have been the same without all your famous quotes lol. Jon-How long have we known each other? It feels like forever. Thank you for being my friend for all these years and staying by my side. Steve-You are such an individual it's insane. It has been so cool to see you evolve into the person you are today. Sarah-Words cannot express how I feel about you. I love you so much. Thank you for cheering me up when I'm down and always being there when I need someone to talk to. You will always be my best friend.

Desiderata

Go placidly amid the noise and haste
And remember what peace there may be in silence.

As far as possible

Be on good terms with all persons.
Speak your truth quietly and clearly

And listen to others

Even to the dull and the ignorant;

They too have their story.

Avoid loud and aggressive persons;

They are vexatious to the spirit.

If you compare yourself with others

You may become vain or bitter,

For always there will be Greater and lesser persons than yourself.

Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans.

Keep interested in your own career, however humble;

It is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time.

Exercise caution in your business affairs

For the world is full of trickery.

But let this not blind you to what virtue there is;

Many persons strive for high ideals

And everywhere life is full of heroism.

Be yourself.

Especially do not feign affection.

Neither be cynical about love,

For in the face of all aridity and disenchantment

It is as perennial as the grass.

Take kindly the counsel of the years,

Gracefully surrendering the things of youth.

Nurture strength of spirit

To shield you in sudden misfortune.

But do not distress yourself with dark imaginings;

Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness.

Beyond a wholesome discipline,

Be gentle with yourself.

You are a child of the universe,

No less than the trees and the stars.

You have a right to be here.

And whether or not it is clear to you,

No doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.

Therefore, be at peace with God

Whatever you conceive him to be.

And whatever your labors and aspirations,

In the noisy confusion of life,

Keep peace in your soul.

With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams,

It is still beautiful world.

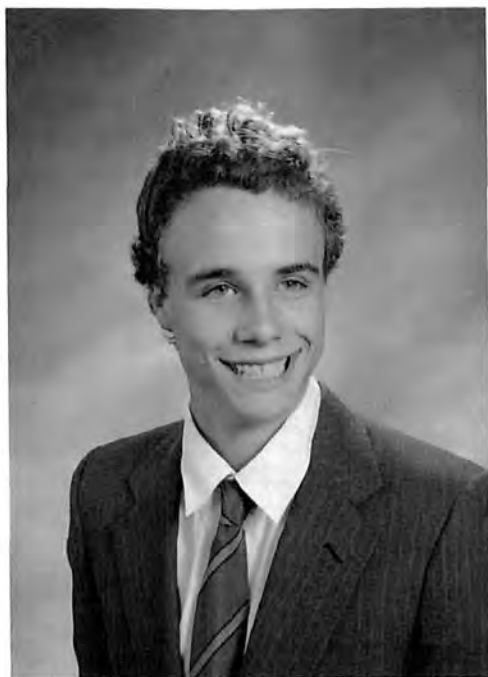

Be cheerful.

Strive to be happy.

Mom and Dad: Thank you so much for all you have done. I would not be who I am today if you did not always push me to do my best. You have taught me so much that I will take with me as I move on in my life. Thank you for everything. I love you both.

Blaise: You finally get your own room. It will be weird next year to have to share a room with someone else, but I will always remember the great times we have had together. From playing slam ball to playing on the rope swing, I could not have had a better brother. It's been fun and good luck next year.

Hope: I'm sure it's been tough putting up with me and Blaise all these years. There's no better person I would rather have as a younger sister. You have helped me learn a thing or two about myself. Thanks for always being there.

To all my coaches: Thank you for all the time and effort you have put into me and Penn Charter athletics. You have helped me grow both as a player and a person. Thank you for making my Penn Charter experience the best it could be.

Well, here I am! It's weird to think that I actually sat down to write this. This last year seems so surreal. It's amazing that I've arrived here – at the finish line, finally! Twelve years later, and I'm here writing my blurbs. Penn Charter has had a major impact on my family and me. I'll always take with me the beliefs that Penn Charter has instilled in me. So, thanks!

Dad, I've always admired your unique parenting style. Just know that I appreciate everything you do for me, and I love you always! Mom, I've said it all before. I love you too much. You are one of my best friends, and you're one of the main reasons I am here today. I love you. Biff, you are my inspiration, and you've helped me live and grow through the years. I've looked up to you since day one, and I will never forget all the wrestling matches, all the advice and support, and especially all of the love. The first eighteen years with you were a blast, and I can't wait to see what the future has in store for us! I love you, Biffer. Eric, Jon, Rodge, Brendan, Justin, etc.: You guys have helped me grow so much. I can't help but thank you for all the advice, love and support you guys have given me through the years. Thanks! Hap: You were someone I always looked up to, and someone I still do. Even though you're not here, I feel like we're connected in so many ways. I don't think there's anything else I can say besides I love you and I miss you and I'm thinking about you. To the Class of 2007: It's sad that our years here have passed by way too fast! I know my 12 years have gone by too fast! I wish you all the best of luck in the future!

Mom-Thanks for being my biggest fan, and helping me stick to the "sharon plan", you're a snooper but that's ok, because I love you so much anyway.

Dad-Thanks for the laughter throughout the years, you're just as young as you appear, the car ride songs and jokester kits, we'll always drift back to Bruce's greatest hits

Stevey- we're only seventeen months apart and almost as close in heart, I will miss asking you to put your guitar down, and also to stop saying I'm a clown.

Tara-you were annoying for a while, but now you're funny and in style, be a good girl for mom and dad, cause Santa knows when you've been bad.

Chris-you're a great buddy to have around, thanks for getting me addicted to lost... or found?, Your goofiness and smile make my day thank you for your love is what I have left to say.

My friends- we've laughed at the jokes and heard all the drama, seen all the tricks and know all the trauma, some days are hell others are heaven, but we'll always be the hot seniors of '07!

Teachers- I've invaded the offices with questions and complaints, I'm sure you've even considered a restraint, but I appreciate your time and care, I won't be gone for long I swear.

Moving On
written by, Chase Irwin

The sun sets on one day
But rises on another
There's no reason to hide
Or stay undercover
There's nothing to fear
That's a guarantee
This part may be over
But there's still a whole world to see

Moving on is always hard
There's no need for regret
Our time has passed by
But you don't have to forget
Your memories will remain
And shape who you'll be
So, take the first step
and move on with me

A time always comes
When you leave something behind
It's hard to break away
From where your roots are entwined
Your life is calling
Don't turn away
Focus on the now
Don't linger on yesterday

Moving on is always hard
There's no need for regret
Our time has passed by
But you don't have to forget
Your memories will remain
And shape who you'll be
So, take the first step
and move on with me

The future is not as comforting as the present
Whether it's getting a job
Or paying your rent
The road ahead
May be unknown
But wherever you go
You'll never be alone

Moving on is always hard
There's no need for regret
Our time has passed by
But you don't have to forget
Your memories will remain
And shape who you'll be
So, take the first step
and move on with me

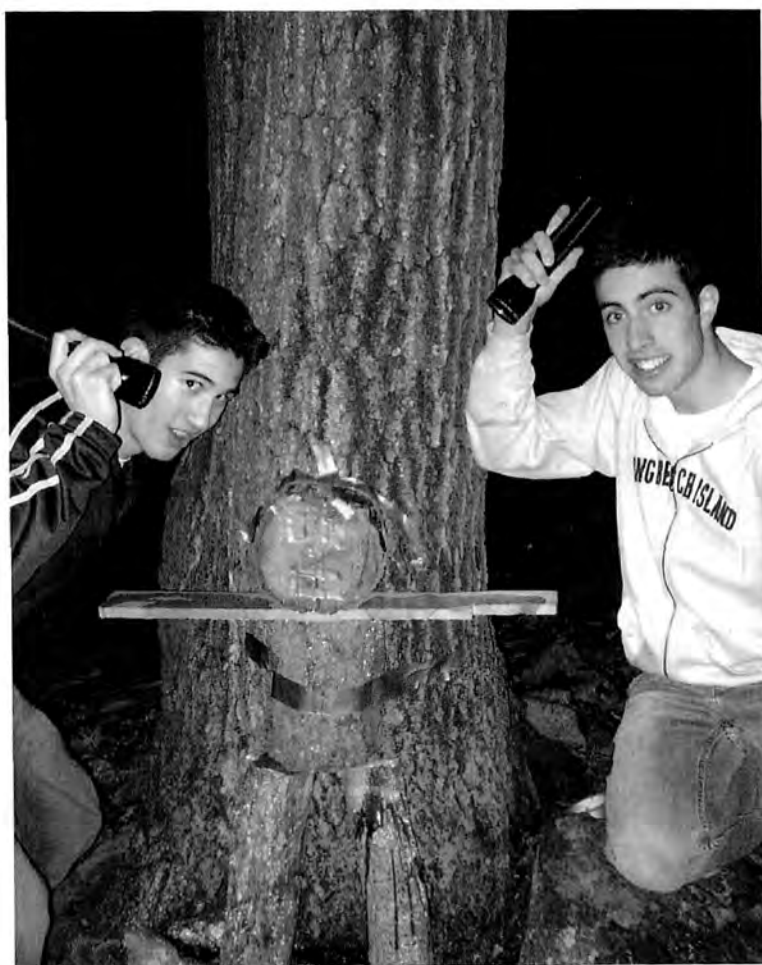

Moving on is always hard
There's no need for regret
Our time has passed by
But you don't have to forget
Your memories will remain
And shape who you'll be
So, take the first step
and move on with me

Move on with me . . .
Move on with me . . .

"As in a theatre, the eyes of men, after a well-graced actor leaves the stage, are idly bent on him that enters next." (Shakespeare)

Padre: You made it so that when I was barely old enough to speak I knew how to say paradiddle, by age four I was praising famous drummers like Dave Weckle, by 10 I could tell you about blues, jazz, and rock, and by the time I was 16 I knew all about cars and motorcycles, I guess all I'm trying to say here his thanks because I love you and everything you've taught me. I thank you for being such a patient and interesting father.

Grandma: Decking me out in fabulous jewelry has been a highlight of my life. Our Chai meetings, shopping trips, forts in your living room, and everything else we did together never gives me a chance to forget how wonderful you are.

Ms. Irving: I don't know if this is weird, but I pretty much wanted to be you for a while. Everyone needs to have a Ms. Irving in their lives. You've inspired me in so many ways and I thank you.

Joe Fitz: Why are you so fabulous? Chorus with you has been phenomenal, and I hope you're not too verklempt after I tell you that you've taught me life lessons. I am so glad that you are a character in my great play of life.

Mom: You were named after a deity for a reason, and I'm glad your name is my middle name. We are connected in soul and name, and as much as I pretend to be too cool for a mother, you know I need you, hence our multiple inside jokes. You're pretty much the most amazing mother ever.

★ Well, it was ugly, but we made it this far Some have gone, but I forget who they are a most unlikely town And there were casualties but we made it out anyhow all but break us down Night clubs and broken vans in every major town and the world seemed smaller We're getting wider but not still crazy I'm so glad that I have these friends o' mine
 So glad that I have these friends o' mine
 So glad that I have these friends o' mine

Now the mornings are worse but we get through them fine
 We stuck together through the good and bad times Pulp
 And I've got your back, you've got mine Like getting no taller I know we've grown
 Sleeping late but we're not lazy Getting older but we're still crazy I'm so glad that I Fiction; Blazing Saddles; and Fast Times I'm so glad that I have these Johnny Cash said "I walk the line" And you can always count on up just a little at a time We're sleeping late but we're not me for one last beer We're getting older but we're not lazy We're getting older but we're not friends o' mine And jobs, girls and obstacles did have these friends o' mine It started out at a coffee shop in

"Real isn't how you are made," said the Skin Horse. "it's a thing that happens to you. When a child loves you for a long, long, time, not just to play with, but REALLY loves you, then you become Real."

"Does it hurt?" asked the Rabbit.

"Sometimes," said the Skin Horse, for he was always truthful. "When you are Real you don't mind being hurt."

"Does it happen all at once, like being wound up," he asked, "or bit by bit?"

"It doesn't happen all at once," said the Skin Horse. "You become. It takes a long time. That's why it doesn't happen often to people who break easily, or have sharp edges, or have to be carefully kept. Generally, by the time you are Real, most of your hair has been loved off, and your eyes drop out and you get loose in the joints and very shaky. But these things don't matter at all, because once you are Real you can't be ugly, except to people who don't understand."

"This bridge will only take you halfway there

To those mysterious lands you long to see:

Through gypsy camps and swirling Arab fairs

And moonlit woods where unicorns run free.

So come and walk awhile with me and share

The twisting trails and wonderous worlds I've known.

But this bridge will only take you halfway there--

The last few steps you'll have to take alone."

Mom and Dad: I cannot even begin to describe all that you mean to me. Your support and encouragement have pushed me to the best I can be. It is because of you that I have made it this far. Your uncanny ability to bring a smile to my face whenever I am down has allowed me to grow into a happy, content, young woman. I greatly appreciate all that you have done for me over the years and want to thank you from the bottom of my heart. I love you both so much!!! Cait: I can still remember you teaching me how to write when I was just three years old. Since then we have grown to become best friends. Your strength, beauty, and compassion amaze me. Always know that I love you more than anything. Dan: I know there are times when we don't seem to get along; I know I am hard on you but that is only because I love you. Enjoy the rest of school and remember that I am proud of the person you are becoming. Class of 2007: Congratulations, we made it!! The past four years have been fun and exciting. I want to thank you all for all of the wonderful memories and good times. I only wish that it wasn't ending so soon.

I couldn't have done any of this without my truly wonderful parents--thank you mom and dad. Even though I may not seem to appreciate all that you do for me, that's just a facade because I really do. Dad--thank you for being that excellent father figure you are and sturdy pillar in my life, also I couldn't help but to thank you for all the talents you gave me from running to writing (as well as my mom for writing too). Mom--thank you for listening to me and being that wonderful and caring mother you are, the one who sees the fullest potential and beyond in her daughters expecting only the best. Thank you mom and dad for all your undying love, support, and encouragement. I couldn't have done it without ya! Oh yeah, to my sis--I love ya and thanks for making me laugh and being that good person you are. To all my buddies at PC, I would like to thank you for making all my years worthwhile and fun: Élan, Aliiiii, Liz, Becca, Jorie, Kymmy, Khaaleedah, Kirby, Marquesa, Saudiah, Kendra, Nadirah, Adjoa, and Alibra, and the boys too, you know who you are: DT, RN, JT, DD, SD, MC, RW, LO, KJ, JS, and KS. The earth is only a snow globe,

And we are merely the figurines inside.
Don't worry of the worries,
They will simply melt like flakes of snow.

Friends will be with you eternally,
And the love will last forever.
Have fun with the fun things,

I will not use this space to thank those in my clique; you all know how much you mean to me and I don't think anything else needs to be said. Dylan: I have known you forever. You are not only a ridiculous person, but an extremely caring individual and an amazing friend. I wish we had had any classes together all throughout high school. Thank you for being hilarious and always there for me no matter what. Ryan: I have also known you forever. You have also been there for me no matter what, and your selflessness never ceases to amaze me. I will always miss our Heasley math corner. Don't change, buddy. Max: I don't even know what to say. I just wish we had been better friends earlier on. You're an awesome guy and you always bring tons of awesome to any outing. Katie: You have become such a close friend over the last couple years. Through bio, Heasley, and at least some physics, you have helped me and made me not embarrassed to be a huge nerd. You, as well, have always been there for me and I can't thank you enough. Jaji: You are a weird kid. Promise me you'll never stop being weird. In all seriousness, you are one of the most interesting guys I know. You always have a different way of thinking about things. Thank you for all the conversations about things I never otherwise would have discussed. Robbie Mac: Mack and Ernie's for life. We're gonna make it big. Sam W., Kev, Josh, Liz, Gabe, Sam Fretz, Val, Peter Damm, Becca, Ellen: Your friendship has meant so much to me over the years.

I love all of you and I couldn't ask for greater friends. I can't thank you all enough.

To my family: You guys mean everything to me. Mom and Dad, if it wasn't for you two, all of the opportunities I have received in my life wouldn't have been possible. All of the advice you gave me and the tough love you showed me when I wasn't doing something right has made a better person and I thank you for that. The money you spent for me to play all of those sports I love and giving me the opportunity to excel at these things, no words can really tell you how much I appreciate and love all of these things you did for me. Thank you for the opportunities and the chances to be the best I could be. I love you both with all my heart. Jordan, Lindsay and Christian, you guys are the best. Not only are you guys my family, but you are my best friends. All of you are so talented and full of life and I thank you for all the laughs we had together and wish all of you the best of luck with everything you do because I know you all will succeed in anything you do.

To my boys: To the guys who graduated last year and the kids I was with this year, it was a crazy 5 years with all of you guys. The memories I have made with each and every single one of you will be instilled in me forever. I couldn't have asked for a better 5 years in my life. I don't know where to start with the fun times we had and the fun times that are ahead of us. I wish everyone the best of luck and may the good times continue as we move on, but never forget each other and the memories we created that allowed us to create such strong friendships. And to the OCHO (you know who you are).

To the teachers: It has been a hard 5 years for me, but with the encouragement and support from all of you, it has been the most worth wild experience. Every teacher pushed me to do my best and I believe your encouragement has molded me into the student I am now, and I thank each and every one of you for that.

To the coaches: Mr. McCloskey, Mr. Phillips (aka Coach Flip), Coach McDonough and Mr. Mellor: You four gentlemen I owe everything to for my happiness and success here at Penn Charter. The opportunities you all gave me to succeed at a school like this and how you helped me through the rough times, when it was either an injury or my school work was bad, you all showed me the reason why I was at Penn Charter, and that was education first. You made my decision to come to Penn Charter the best thing I ever could have done and made my time at Penn Charter a very special one. I will never forget the life lessons you instilled in me and the importance of respect and teamwork that all of you expressed with me while you coached me. I will take these lessons with me to the next level, in both sports and in life. Thank you all.

Thanks man - First and foremost I must thank my parents, for without their hard work, sacrifices, and significant contributions, I would not have had the opportunity and privilege to attend such a fine institution as PC. To my sisters, Allison and Danielle, thank you so much for supporting me; regardless of how chaotic my life gets I know I'll always have you guys to fall back on (be good!) Thank you to every teacher that has significantly expanded my mind and improved my style of learning (mad props Davis and Irving.) Thank you to P. Cole, Berkoff, CB, Mrs. White, and Marie: I have always believed that the commitment and diligence I've acquired on the field (and in the pool) are very important lessons that I've been able apply to my work ethic in the classroom and I know they will stay with me forever. Of course I can't officially say goodbye without giving a shout out to my girls on the polo and swim team, especially Ellen, my co-captain; no group of young ladies has ever made me prouder and I will always remember the times we've shared. Writing this has brought me to tears because I cannot imagine not seeing these people's faces every day. PC has taught me so many valuable things, and I hope I, in some shape or form, contributed a part of who I am to this school because I know that a part of me will never leave this community.

Mom, Dad, and Kayla--Thank you for supporting me throughout the years and pushing me to do my best.

To all my Cousins--Even though I don't get to see you guys enough, the times I do are always great. I always get good advice and have fun.

To all my Aunts and Uncles--You have all supported me and have been involved in my life. I know that through college and beyond you will all be watching me.

Grandmom and Grandpop--Pop, I miss you but I know you'd be proud of me. Grandmom, I love you very much and wouldn't ask for any other Grandmom!

S.A.B.--At first we thought I'd end up being put away, but I have really turned around. I couldn't have done it without you keeping an eye on me the whole way.

G.S.--You were my friend and trainer. I appreciate everything you've taught me. I always enjoyed coming into the weight room to hear old stories about PC.

Frankford Boys Club--There are too many friends, coaches, teammates, and family to put down here. Boys Club has been a big part of my life and has helped shape me into who I am today. I've had great time down there, playing and coaching, and I want to thank everyone for my experiences.

A.R.--After 5 years and everything we've been through, we're still friends. Throughout those years we've had some really tough times. I probably fight and argue with you over the most trivial things more than any other person I know. I still care about you all the same though. I hope that me going away to college won't change anything. You have been a very influential and important person in my life and I want to keep it that way.

E.F.--I am very glad that I met you, although I wish I had done so sooner. I can always count on you and I don't know what would have happened to me this summer without you. I can't thank you enough; I have missed you a lot this year.

My PC Friends--I'm going to miss you guys, especially the weight room. Good luck in the future.

To Mom, Dad, Mike, and Nora:

I want to thank you guys for always being there to help me through any of the problems I encountered through school. You always believed in me, and made me believe in myself. It has been a long time coming, but I'm on the right track now and I owe all of you my thanks. I love you all; and I even love Mike, despite the fact he won't tell me he loves me too. I know that I'll do fine in life, so long as I take the knowledge which you have imparted upon me. I love you.

Your son/brother/grandson,

Shout out to PC seniors '07! Thank you, to all the people who have helped me make my senior year so memorable. I know that just because we are going to all be spreading across the country soon to go to college, I know that we will keep in touch and see each other as much as possible. I'll never forget you guys, except one.

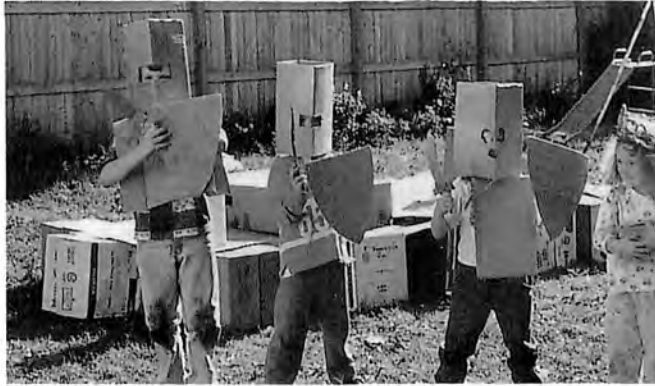

This one goes out to someone who's very special: Ryan Nanni. Hey Ry, I didn't know what my senior year would be like since you've been gone. I know you graduated two years ago, but it feels like just yesterday that you walked these hallways, and argued about who'd be a better choice between you and RJ if someone was trying to start a franchise. (By the way, you'd be my #1 draft pick any day of the week.) I just want to say thanks; you've touched just about every person in this school in one way or another, and we are better friends because of it. Thank you from the bottom of my heart.

They said it'd never happen. They said I'd never do it. They said that it was impossible; but who's laughing now that I'm actually going to college?

E. Richard "Biggins" White

6 years at PC, Blue Team, Football, Wrestling, Track & Field

To my Father:

RIP! I love ya man. I never forget you because you live in my heart forever. You might not be here in the physical but emotionally and spiritually I see you every day. Thank you for everything you've done.

To my mother:

Moms, you raised a man. You molded me into the person I am today. You took care beyond the limit of a normal mom. You're one of my best friends. You gave me the opportunity to become a success. I love and thank you

To my grandmother

Grandmoms, You are my heart. You and I have the same personality. We are both passionate people who need to be heard. I thank God for you being in my life.

To my grandfather:

Grandpops, you are my man pots and pans. You showed me how to be tough and I model how a man is supposed to take care of his responsibilities from you. I love you

7+7=6! I finally made it. It has been a long time coming. I want to thank God for getting me here. He makes all things possible and I thank Him for giving me the opportunity to attend a school like this. I like to shout out, first and foremost my family. Shout out to my dad, RIP, moms, grandmoms, and grandpa. Shout out to my uncle Allen, and Hubie. Shout out to Chris, I see you making moves. Last but not least, My uncle, Butchie, thank you for always being there. Shout outs to Godmother, Ollie, Ameena, Ageena, Omar, and Gigi. Shout out to Godpops, Larry Brown. I like to shout out the whole William Penn Charter School. Shout out to Dr. Bonnie, thanks for helping me. Shout outs to Football team and the Track Team. We work hard and we deserve those championships. Shout out to Steppingstone scholars program. SSP is how I got here. Shout out to all my homies at the school. You know who you are. A special shout out to my brothas at the school, Kashif, Rafel, JeRon, Curtis, Jordan, Dylan, HJ, Travis, KJ, Leland, Martin, Mike Casmir, Malcolm, Justin, Shawn and Dareem. Shout outs to my ladies; Libs, Leeds, Marquessa, Kendra, Adjoa, Nadirah, Saudiah, Kirby, Tasha, . And all the other people who I forgot that rep Biggs.

So just live. Make mistakes and have wonderful times but never second guess who you are, where you have been, and most importantly, where it is that you are going - Sex and the City

We don't always have it all together but together, we have it all

We all take different paths in life, but no matter where we go, we take a little of each other everywhere.

I would like to thank everyone who has helped and supported me throughout my four years at Penn Charter. Mom: You're the one person I can always talk to when I have a problem. There is nothing better than coming home to a great family dinner. You always know how to cheer me up. Dad: I always will look up to you. You have taught me so many valuable lessons, and you have set a great example for how I should live my life. You both do so much for me and I am grateful for everything. I love you both very much. Grandma: You never miss a game. You are always there for me and I appreciate all that you do. Go Phillies! I love you. Zack and Joe: You both showed me so much. Your toughness and resilience really inspire me to never give up, no matter how much adversity life brings. I truly admire both of you. Christina: You are such a great sister. You're never at a loss for words, and your opinions are always appreciated. You can do anything you set your mind to. Keep dancing and take care of JJ when I go to college. Amanda: You mean so much to me. You always know how to make me smile. You are such a great person, and I am lucky to have you in my life. I will always be there for you. I love you. To all my friends and teammates: You all made it enjoyable to come to school. Thanks for all the great memories and good luck to all of you. Coach Flip, Mr. Mellor, and Mr. McCloskey: Thanks for everything you have taught me. All of your efforts and teachings helped me become a better person and player. I would also like to thank all of the coaches and teachers that influenced me and helped me succeed. Good luck class of '07.

Poe's Midnight Dreary

This year's fall play, Poe's Midnight Dreary, based on the works of Edgar Allen Poe, was a spectacular mix of literature and theater. The audience re-lived Poe's life as he deliriously remembers it on his deathbed, intertwining it with many of his stories. Upper School students recreated not only the events and people from Poe's life, but the plots and characters from the "Tell Tale Heart," "The Black Cat," "The Raven," "Annabel Lee," "The Fall of the House of Usher," "The Premature Burial," and "The Poetic Principle."

The highlight of the play was definitely the set, with its spectacular special effects. This, combined with the fine directing of Mrs. Noone and a great job by all students involved, made this year's play certainly one to remember.

120th PC/GA Day

The 120th annual PC/GA day started off with a bang on Friday afternoon, with the senior barbeque and pep rally and the return of the Penn Charter Wing Bowl. The seniors got everyone pumped by decorating the old gym and showing their videos, along with a few skillfully choreographed dances. On Saturday morning the fall teams traveled to GA to compete, some looking for repeats and some looking for revenge. The day started out well for Penn Charter, with girls tennis and boys cross country getting solid wins. The boys water polo team also clinched a victory early on, which was long-awaited payback for last year's upset. Unfortunately, Penn Charter didn't fare as well in the later games, suffering tough losses in girls and boys soccer, girls cross country, and a heartbreaking overtime defeat in field hockey. Luckily, the sun came out just as football took the field, and the boys in blue and yellow saved the day with their 21-10 win over GA, bringing the day's overall competition to a hard-fought draw. PC now leads in the ancient football rivalry 76-33-11.

Boys Cross Country

Going into this season, expectations for the boys' cross country squad were shorter than Coach Tim Carroll's spandex shorts. Returning only a few members from last year's fourth place InterAc team, senior captains Max "The Feld Man" Feldman and Dylan Isaacson predicted a long and painful season. Also returning for an encore were sophomores Super Steve and Kyrieliscious, as well as established runners Cookie, Marcus Sinari, Zach, Derek, and Jason! McDavid.

During preseason everything changed. Varsity soccer made its cuts and suddenly, XC had more talent than it could handle. Former soccer players turned running studs included track stars Ricky Lynn, Arshneel Kochar, and Gabe. They would eventually comprise most of the team's top scorers. Also joining the line up was: Kevin Rosen, Robbieliscious, and the freshman duo: Tom Noonan and Brandon Hankowsky, who proved themselves much cooler than freshman compatriots Dylan "The Future" Roberts and Ben Miller.

Early meets went slowly at first, but gradually, the team began to show its talent. After disappointing performances in the Nike XXXC meet and the Briarwood Invitational, the team rallied to defeat Episcopal in its InterAc opener 25-31. PC would finish 4-1 in the InterAc, losing only a tough race to Malvern Prep. After that disappointment, Charter XC bounced back with its biggest win in three years, racing to victory at the George School Invitational. Top-ten finishes by Dylan, Ricky and Arsh were key as the Quakers defeated the host George School by three points. The team entered InterAc champs with high expectations, but unfortunately lost to Malvern again, finishing second in the league.

Cross country bounced back in a big way the following weekend at the PA Independent School State Championships. Following Arshneel's in-race sickness, Kyrieliscious and Robbieliscious stepped up in a big way, filling out the team's top five and propelling Charter XC to a first-place-in-the-state finish in Division II, one division higher than GFS. The team hoisted rookie coach Jason Yaffe on its shoulders and drove off into the sunset, passing the Malvern van on the way home and leaving it in the dust.

Boys XC would later add two more trophies to the case, defeating Haverford in the annual Over the River War and GA at PC/GA day. The team attributes much of its success to the hard work of Coach Yaffe and Coach Carroll. With the entire top five and six of the top eight runners graduating, the team will look to the leadership of Steve, Kyrie, and Jason to continue the success of the program.

With Renée Gunning by our side this year we were pushed harder than we were in the past. Between Mr. B and Renée we had more support than any team in the InterAc. The support from fans (especially the Fullens and McDowells) also contributed to our success.

A key to the squad was our lone 9th grader, Hope Fullen, who came through time and time again. The tenth graders kept the team loose by emitting random yells whenever one of their past friends was mentioned. Lexi Glassman began showing her true promise at the George School Invitational, where she placed in the top 10. Her season only improved. Alyssa, Sarah, Charlotte, and Julie battled injuries throughout the season but showed strong support and ran even when they were in pain. Co-captain Kelsey ran consistently, rescheduling over and over again her surgery dates to remove her tonsils. This showed the most dedication. Co-captain Ashley had a good season, contributing many points to the team. Robin and Lauren improved their times significantly, contributing to to many Quaker victories. Jess Yorko can't be summed up. Her dedication, drive and enthusiasm really pushed the girls on the team mentally and physically to do their best.

This was the "Year of the Animals" as the team saw a rabid raccoon, squashed black squirrel, snakes, deer and ants during our woodsy practices. Our assistant coach, Renée, was discovered while sprinting around our track and hired right away! The top workout of the season was the 6 mile intervals from Chestnut Hill back to Penn Charter. Renée's "sprint drills" went from embarrassment to real mastery!

With an overall record of 4 and 3, 4th out of 7 in the InterAc, and 7th of out 16 teams in the PA State Meet, we had our ups and downs this season. We may have not won a title but we won a lot of meets and a lot of medals. Our biggest achievement was that we developed and improved as a team. GO HOPE!

This year Penn Charter Field Hockey had a roller coaster season and the team's record does not reflect the character and heart of PCFH '06. Unfortunately, the season saw several players sidelined including juniors Snitey and Becca "Band Aid" Foley and later in the season, captain "that's not right, #12" Marghi. However, PC hockey rose to the occasion inspired by Mr. Johnson's intense pump ups, Mrs. McKenna emails, Mr. Berger's "pretty," Barbra Anne's pigtails, and the breathless anticipation of waffles for breakfast. Highlight goals were delivered by Kim "Slides" Slider when she took out the goalie in overtime to beat Springside and by Caroline "Wilkie" Wilkes who put PC on the scoreboard first on PC/GA day. Sierra "Ciara" Tishgart finally revealed her 1-2 step and Alex Olsman managed to score with her stick this year. Sara Henley anxiously awaits the retirement of senior keeper Anne, and is ready to teach the new freshman the art of goalkeeping. The PCFH seniors MADE this season the best ever. Erika "Er" Berger was a force to be reckoned with in the midfield, mostly because she "wants this." Katie Delaney was an integral part of the D-UNIT, delivering her best game on PC/GA day. Captain Audra Hugo lit up the games with her strong free hits, and took no mercy on the opponents, hitting them where it hurts. Captain Anne "T-Bone" McKenna accepted Alibra Johnson's golden nuggets and stopped singing in goal long enough to be named MVP in the final game of the year, Liz Strasbaugh got off her motorcycle and stepped it up as a brick wall on defense, and captain Marghi Walters finally exchanged her pearls for hoops.

With a lot of young talent returning next year, including stellar froshies Kellie Ragg and Allison Thompson, along with super sophomores Allie Ingersoll, Mary Kate Hatfield, and Becky "I have a boyfriend named Kyle" ???, PCFH has a bright future under Coaches Harrington, Pronga and new mamma Ez.

After finishing second in the league last year, the Quakers set out to win an InterAc championship. Penn Charter had an extremely tough out of league schedule, with games against perennial power houses Archbishop Wood, The Hun School and Valley Forge Military Academy. The Quakers played tough and escaped the non-league season with a 3-2 record. However, the tough InterAc schedule loomed ahead.

Penn Charter's InterAc season opener was against Chestnut Hill Academy, who was playing in their first league game in 33 years. The Quakers outlasted the Blue Devils 17-14, thanks to a 37 yard game winning field goal by Eric Muller, and some defensive heroics by linebacker Sam Biddle as the clock wound down. Against Episcopal Academy in their mud bowl the Quakers dominated the field position and won on a late fourth quarter TD by Sean McNally, set up by newly-inserted wide-out Eddie Bambino's gravity-defying catch. The Quakers' next opponent was the reigning InterAc Champs, the Friars of Malvern Prep. Sophomore quarterback John Ryan started for a PC team that came out of the gates firing on all cylinders. The Quakers raced to a 23-7 halftime lead, but was clinging to a slim 23-19 lead in the final minutes of regulation. After an incredibly bad call gave Malvern a first down deep in PC territory, Joe Rauchut led the defense in a heroic goal line stand, keeping the Friars out of the end zone at their own 3 yard line as time expired. Penn Charter then dominated Haverford 56-0, setting up a championship game against arch rival Germantown Academy. The historic 120th annual meeting between PC and GA proved to be another classic. The Quakers raced to a 14-10 halftime lead (after another Ryan to Bambino TD hookup), and controlled the clock to win 21-10. This victory cemented the Quakers their first solo InterAc Championship since 2002, the first Penn Charter team to go 5-0 in the InterAc since 1967.

The Penn Charter boys soccer team had its most successful season in recent years. In non-league play, the team compiled a record of 7-2-2 with impressive wins over Central Bucks South, Archbishop Wood and Germantown Friends School. The Quakers were able to post six shutouts in addition to scoring twenty goals.

In InterAc play, the team started off strong with wins over Malvern Prep and Episcopal Academy. Unfortunately, the Quakers were unable to maintain this momentum, losing the next couple of matches. Perhaps the highlight of the InterAc season came in a tie with Germantown Academy at home in the last week of the season. While PC didn't get the result it was looking for on PC/GA day due to a controversial call, the team played very well. Throughout the season, the Quakers were able to prove to everyone just how capable they were and proved that they should be taken seriously each and every game.

Steve Baron, senior captain and experienced keeper, had many key saves that led to important wins. The defense was led by the consistent and brilliant play of Tim Drabyak, supported by strong play from Dan Lyons and Sam Yeoman, who consistently shut down the opposing team's offensive threats. Once healthy, Connor Gorman provided strong offensive play through midfield alongside Ryan Goldman, Mike Vandergrift and Jeff Calhoun. Ben Katz and Daryl Watson provided a strong attack up front. The team would like to thank our coaches and the fans who supported us throughout the entire year.

Many worried that this season was going to be a rebuilding year for the girls varsity soccer team. The loss of many important seniors to graduation, along with the loss of a head coach left the team in a frenzy. Luckily our new coach, Eddie Mensah, along with Mr. Marks trained players to fill key roles. Despite some early non-league losses, we remained undefeated in the InterAc after the first round of play. Numerous overtime wins helped to build the team's confidence. The second round of play, however, challenged the girls both physically and mentally. Despite troubles and hardships, we pulled through and held on to second place in the InterAc league.

Girls Water Polo

The girls water polo team had a great first season. Led by Captain Ellen McDevitt and returning juniors Sarah Weitzman, Christina Wagner, and Emily Drinker, the team grew and learned throughout the season. A highlight of the season was winning our bracket at the Beast of the East tournament, which gives us the right to declare ourselves Beasts of the East (while we may have made that last part up, it sure sounds good). Because it was a first year team, all players were key and every girl added to the overall strength of the team.

Alex Kapnek provided strong shallow end goaltending and endless Dodgeball quotations (YOU are the STAIN...). Megan Thompson demonstrated how to not let anyone talk smack in the pool. Vicki Markovitz displayed incredible tenacity and determination every time she got in the water. Laurie Finer refused to wear a cap, but did well anyway. At the end of the season, both Vicki and Laurie displayed incredible upper-arm strength, gunning the ball into the net.

Junior Christina Wagner played amazing deep-end goal and hole offense and defense. Sarah also played terrific hole offense and defense. Emily Drinker surprised us all with a 5M goal, and we subsequently raised our expectations for her. She, of course, met them. We look to these three to lead the team to more victories next year.

Our two sophomores, Joni Anderson and Sammy Jarmul, provided the necessary speed. Sammy won almost all the swimoffs, and by the end of the season, Joni figured out that she was the biggest girl in the pool and should, therefore, be an unstoppable force. As soon as Sammy takes her size-10s off the bottom, she will become the evil nemesis of every other team.

Our three beloved freshmen, Lauren Trager (aka Trager-flav), Christina Cusumano (aka Cootz), and Jessie Lehrbaum (aka Blue), were a source of endless entertainment. They are the future of the team: the first girls that will have played for all four years. They gained much experience and knowledge in their first season, and hopefully this will serve them well for years to come. We look for some great future swimoffs from these three, as well as some terrific drives.

Water Polo is like no other sport at Penn Charter. Unlike other sports, it requires little to no athletic talent or knowledge of the game. Rather, the only key is being comfortable in and being around other guys clad in Speedos. Interestingly enough, Penn Charter has a plethora of strapping young gents who fit this very specific criterion. But seriously, you have to be a little off or uncoordinated to play the challenging and chaotic game of H₂O Polo.

This year's team racked up an impressive 26 wins with only 5 losses and were InterAc Champs to boot. Some might consider the '06 squad to be the greatest of all time (a.k.a. "The GOAT"). This year's team had a glorious blend of battle tested leadership and young talent. The team's studs included Captains Chris Tiano, Kyle and Jeremy Maurer as well as Sam Lozoff, Drew Bonus, Matt Tausch and Eli "Magnum" Tanner. Excluding Chris Tiano, all players will be returning next year, ensuring another exceptional season. The team also received positive contributions from Anthony Lordi, Matt Star, Jon Christoph, Austin Wood, Matt Cahn, Josh Heinsheimer, Evan Gagne and Tess Crawford, our adorable manager.

Another reason for the team's success was its darn fine coach, Charlie Brown, as well as stats guru, P. Coleman, and semi-assistant, Edward McAnany, who all managed to put up with the team's shenanigans added their own little touch to this year's great squad.

Yea Felllaaasss!!!!... P. Cole has a g-friend... My bothers, my sisters, my blood... P. Cole to Sam L.: "What are you talking about—that pretzel was holding on for dear life!"... The girls tennis team had high hopes for the 2006 season. With five seniors on varsity, the team was sure to hold an impressive record by the end of the season. Coach Rose Weinstein was the second-year coach for the Penn Charter tennis teams.

The Quakers welcomed three newcomers: sophomore Linda Lipsky and juniors Liza Garrison and Steph Schorsch. At first singles, Jordyn Shaffer once again held a beautiful record of 7-0 in the InterAc. Co-Captain Kiera Murasko-Blank played hard at second singles and contributed her spirit and high energy to the team. At third singles, Co-Captain Shannon Harrington finished the season with a solid record. She also contributed to a tough win against Episcopal Academy (4-3). New singles player Kate Savage had a great season, finishing the season with a solid record in the InterAc. Kate Goldenberg and Co-Captain Amanda Davis played first doubles this season. This doubles team also contributed to a great win against Episcopal Academy. At second doubles, new players Liza Garrison and Linda Lipsky quickly meshed into a determined and successful team. Jayne Bernsten, returning third doubles player, welcomed Steph Schorsch as her new partner. Last, but not least, Elizabeth Golden and Caroline Huber supported the team at every match and played well together as the alternate doubles team. Each player greatly improved throughout the season. The Quakers came in third in the league with a 4-3 InterAc record, defeating our two main rivals: GA and EA.

The tennis team had an 8-7 record overall. The seniors wish the tennis girls an amazing season next fall. We will miss you!

After a successful 2005-2006 campaign, Penn Charter had high hopes for the new season with returning seniors Sam Zeglinski, Brian Teuber, Drew Fullen, Leland O'Connor, Billy Goldman and Tom Caramanico. These six seniors, coupled with young talent, made for very competitive practices and high pre-season expectations. However, the team never seemed to play consistently or at their full potential. After struggling with their tough non-league schedule, including road trips against nationally-ranked tournament competition, the Quakers looked to rebound by winning the league. The InterAc was balanced and highly competitive this year, and PC again struggled to win games. The Quakers finished 5-5 in league play and 1-1 in the postseason tournament. A major highlight was an exciting win against eventual InterAc champs Germantown Academy 70-67 in front of a roaring Quaker Crew. PC kept the game close most of the way, then mounted an impressive comeback in the ultimate gut-check scenario. The Quaker Crew made for some exciting home games and made a lot of memories for the members of the basketball team. Other memories included the gravity-defying moves of freshman Travis Robinson; the physical play of junior Chris Kurz; the deadly long-range shooting of Leland O'Connor; Drew Fullen's rebounding and control of the paint; Brian Teuber's quickness; and Sammy Z's clutch threes. The seniors appreciate the hard work and commitment from their coaches all year long, and hope the returning players will re-capture the InterAc title. Although strong senior leadership might be graduating, the team has a lot of young talent coming back, and they should be very competitive in the InterAc next year.

Audra Hugo and Bridget McDugall

Under a new coaching staff, head coach Diana Caramanico, stylish Natasha Pronga, and Crazy Carla, Penn Charter Girls B-Ball had a roller coaster season. For the first year ever, we played each league opponent twice, and the second trip through the InterAc proved to be difficult. The Quakers, however, showed their heart by competing with some really tough teams and never giving up. PC B-Ball was led by the best senior captains ever Audra "El Capitano" Hugo, Bridget "The Red One" McDugall along with Anne "Shocker" McKenna. The impact of their leadership was tremendous, and the program will probably never recover from the loss of these seniors. Juniors Becca "Bandaïd" Foley, Caroline "Hamster" Huber, and Nora "BALLIN" McGurkin stepped it up, leading the team in scoring. Darcy "Derm" Resch and Nora "All Star" Ackley proved they were great at getting ready. Two new sophomores, Savannah "Shooter" Guyer and Mary Kate "MK" Hatfield were an excellent addition to the team. Making up about half of PC B-Ball's numbers, the freshman squad held their own, and we only lost one through the strenuous tryouts. Kayla "Long Socks" Torrey and Nikki "Hungry" Gwynn showed their skills and earned varsity positions. Saudiah "Speedy" Lawrence shocked us all with her Wutang and crazy hair and Adjoa "H₂O" Ntoso proved that height is just a number. Meg "The Animal" Curtain made a funny face and Hope "Air" Fullen showed us all how to play in slow motion. Madeline "Knee Brace" Hugo lived up to her last name, when she wasn't in Rich's room. Even though we didn't win every game, we came together as a team, making connections and having fun. PC B-Ball flew in a V. BALLIN.

The Penn Charter Boys Squash team had by all counts an amazing season. Led by senior co-captains Pat Brady and Ross Harrow, the team rolled through the schedule amassing an undefeated record. It is the general consensus of the squash community that this team is one of the best scholastic squash teams ever assembled.

After a disappointing ending to last season with a thrilling, albeit bitter loss to Lawrenceville at the High School National Championships, the team was looking to rebound and make it over the hump to become the best team in the nation.

We began the season with some of our most difficult matches, facing Franklin and Marshall College, a top-15 collegiate team, as well as Brunswick Academy and Lawrenceville. However, on each occasion, the Quakers rose to the challenge and prevailed with some tight victories. After that, PC flew through league play, compiling an undefeated record in the InterAc for the second straight year, and winning yet another league championship.

February saw the Quakers go to Yale for High School Nationals as the number one seed. In the finals they met Brunswick Academy, who had defeated their nemesis, Lawrenceville, in the semis. In front of one of the most raucous crowds in scholastic squash history, Penn Charter stunned the huge gathering of Brunswick fans with a convincing 5-2 victory. After coming home the team wrapped up an undefeated dual match season with a win over the Shipley School before finishing up the season with a MASA team title where they again defeated Lawrenceville.

Next season, the Quakers will be led by seniors Chris Callis, Matt and Alex Domenick, and Dave Hilton. The bottom of the lineup will also be anchored by Hunter "Vanilla" Beck, and Oscar "I wish I was as good as Thomas" Mattson.

Elizabeth Golden, Kiera Murasko-Blank, and Shannon Harrington

At the beginning of the season, the girls squash team did not know what to expect with a new coach on board. After beating Episcopal, finishing as InterAc Co-Champions and National Finalists, and losing only three seniors last year, the team had high expectations. The Quakers' biggest competition was Episcopal Academy, a team known for having a talented group. Although the Penn Charter girls fell short to the Episcopal players, the team did not lose another InterAc match the rest of the season.

As February approached, the Quakers were scheduled to play in the prep championships (MASA), and the National High School Squash Championships at Yale University. Senior captains Elizabeth Golden, Kiera Murasko-Blank, and Shannon Harrington, held the team closely together (mainly on the very quick van rides). With help from juniors Katie Corelli, Kate Savage, and Steph Schorsch, and sophomores Lexi Glassman and Janie Hawkins, and freshmen Sarah Domenick, Skylar Dickey, and Morgan Strauss, the team placed second in the InterAc and third at the National Championships!

Aside from playing squash, the girls may also look back on the season and remember ... 80 mph (not kilometers)... That would look good, "no! That would be heinous!"... Breakfasts (well, the seniors will at least)... Skylar (or lack there of)... the never-ending ball game... our sweet new jackets, hats, and rubys... Will and Jude... La Quinta... and the best captains ever!

Thanks for making the season the best that it could be. We will miss you guys next year! Good luck and Hurrah, Hurrah, Hurrah, Charter! Love, Your Captains '07!

After just beating Friends Central and losing to Malvern, the boys swim team worked hard, training at night, from 6:30-9:30, while their pool was yet again broken. Then for the second half of winter break they traveled to Fort Lauderdale, where they put up to six hours a day in the pool - it was mad intense. Though, there were a few highlights, including a jellyfish filled ocean swim, classy viewing of Borat and the annual Kev beat down, capped with purple nupples galore.

Returning from Florida, the team dominated both EA and Haverford, both of which have velvet sweat suits and robes and are clearly not worthy. However, they lost to GA in a close meet that could have gone either way.

Looking to the future, Freshman Anthony "fastskin" Lordi, Joey "Rips off Dave Chapelle" Acquaviva and Austin "only so-so hot" Wood turned in great swims, adding invaluable points in both league victories. Other underclassman stars include Drew "Dragonforce" Bonus, Mike "who looks like the Thing from fantastic four" McVeigh, Ben Cooper "aka the Coopa Bear" and Drew "Sea monkey" Trager. As you can see this heavy level of talent in the under classes gives a positive outlook for the future, which hopefully includes a trouncing or two of GA and a league title. Further, this year's team is only losing one senior, captain Chris Tiano but the other captain, JJ Ragg, will be returning as well.

This year's team saw growth at every level. Kyle Maurer learned the backstroke and will hopefully drop enough time to make it back at Easterns next year. Sam Lozoff won the team's heart with a great season, capped with a great Easterns 100 free. JJ "Bam-bam" Ragg had a great season, as well, adding depth to relays and swimming it whatever event he was asked to. Mac "baby face" Ferrick also had a solid year of training which will be invaluable to his polo career, as did Jeremy Maurer, who improved his 50 and 200 free. Frank Lieberman and Connor Gorman improved their breaststrokes for the second straight year, earning points outside of the limelight. Billy Wagner managed to be a contributor as well, though he can't ever seem to fix his goggles, which cause him to sit out a good 1500 a practice. Lindi Rruka was fun to be around and he got along great with the freshmen - even well known slacker Matt Tausch.

From the Senior Captain Chris Tiano, "I love you all and though sometimes I yelled at you or worse, and said horrible things about your families, I still love you. Keep the head shaving tradition alive as well as Kev's annual beat down. Swim fast, take chances, beat GA, work hard, but never overwork, get better at throwing kickboards, don't let the girls steal our food and drinks and I want all of you to see Drew Bonus' dream come true, not just for him, but for all of you."

6th Place at Easterns

Penn Charter Girls Swimming was 7-3 in the regular season and placed third at InterAc Championships. The highlight of the season was placing sixth at Easterns. This feat was the first time the team had placed since 1995, resulted in serious hardware that the team is proud to leave in the trophy case.

The girls started the season strong with a bumper crop of freshmen. Captains Ellen McDevitt and Megan Thompson quickly whipped the new swimmers into shape: sophomores Simone Baron and Joni Anderson, freshmen Lauren Trager, Kelly Ragg, Christina Cusumano, and Jessie Lehrbaum (not exactly a newbie, but close enough), and eighth grader Kyle Bonus all learned fast.

Due to difficulty with the pool's drainage system, the team practiced at LaSalle College over Christmas break. The girls were excited to skip the annual hundred hundreds set. Then they left for training trip, where they got to do the hundred hundreds set in a fifty meter pool. While many felt like they had been hit by a train after only one Florida practice, it was worth it. Not only could they eat all they wanted at the Dragon King Buffet, it was quickly discovered that the Upper Dublin boys swim team had toga parties. Despite the initial trepidation about the ocean swim, the Quakers quickly discovered the girls team really was tougher than the boys team. They wore their man-of-war stings with pride, even the ones in places their tank suits might hide.

After returning from training trip rougher, tougher, and tanner than ever before, the team threw itself whole-heartedly into preparing for its season goal: to place at Easterns. The girls enthusiastically defeated Notre Dame for the first time in P-Cole's career. A crushing defeat by Episcopal Academy led to renewed energy in training for Easterns. (Divers Jenny Singer, Liz Spagnoletti, and Elizabeth Binswanger were crucial to many wins.)

New talent was discovered in Simone Baron's 500 and Barb Lally's 50 free. Katie Grace showed great commitment and a true love of the sport despite many hours spent in play rehearsal. Liza Garrison was challenged to swim fast in a lane full of boys. Marghi Walters proved to be crucial to many of the team's wins throughout the season. Christina Wagner, in addition to putting in great performances in the 100 Breaststroke and the 500, kept the team excited when she brought her iPod speakers and the Rent soundtrack to every meet.

Having worked hard all season, the girls team was thoroughly excited when taper began. After a bikini practice, the team had a great pasta party at the Walters'. Then, they went home and shaved their entire bodies. Great performances (which can be attributed to shaved arms) at Easterns were seen from Bonus in diving, Anderson and Cusumano in the 100 Breast, Samantha Jarmul in the 100 Back, and Sarah Weitzman in the 200 Free Relay.

This was a rebuilding year for the wrestling team. Due to the loss of several key wrestlers at the beginning of the season, we found ourselves in a bit of a dilemma early on. We had trouble filling the weight classes for a while and we were met by many injuries. However, it seemed as if the injured healed with perfect timing as we were healthy for the final and most important stretch of the season. The addition of several individuals both early on and later in the season contributed towards our success. In addition to being a young and inexperienced team, we were also hard working and dedicated which showed as the season progressed. The improvement of many individuals was evident. Everyone's hard work finally paid off as we won three matches this year and exceeded expectations with regard to individual improvement. This year, we had two wrestlers join the 100 win club, Ryan Hoffman and Pat Hitschler, successfully accomplishing this feat to join many other prestigious wrestlers in PC history. Continuing with the successful trend, the PC wrestling team went into the state tournament with fairly high expectations. The Quakers were led by a 5th place finish by Pat Hitschler, a 6th place finish by Ryan Hoffman, and a 8th place finish by Ben Fries. This capped off a breakthrough season for Ben as he truly took advantage of his opportunities and improved beyond expectations. However, the whole team gave it their all at States and went out on a respectable note. They hope to pick up where they left off next year and continue improving and achieving success. On a sad note, this was Coach Val Erdmanis's last season coaching varsity wrestling. He capped off a tremendous career coaching varsity at PC leading such a young team to vast improvement and success. Fortunately, Erd will be coaching for the middle school next year and will still be around. ... that's what she said... Shannon,

I love you and all you have accomplished! I'll miss, but will always treasure, our morning car rides to Penn Charter and the music we shared on those 2500 rides! We listened and sang to the music from "Living La Vida Loca," "I'm a Believer," "The Rising," "Night Moves," and we made it to "The Last Waltz." Always remember that you are my "Sweet Pea" in this "Tunnel of Love."

Love,

Shannon,

May that special sparkle in your eyes and the light of your smile shine upon the path which you are about to begin. We know your enthusiasm and hard work will carry you through any obstacles you may face along the way. Follow your dreams and never forget the wonderful person you have become. We are so very proud of you, congratulations.

Ode to the Class of 2007!

I was a Senior in '70 and you will graduate in '07. Just a little juxtaposition of numbers and it seems that no time has passed at all. So many differences today and yet so much remains the same.

I remember the angst of college applications, guidance counselor visits (we had 1-2 total meetings with a no-name counselor... that's public school for you).

I remember feeling the tug of war (oops rope pull) between taking the time to explore those college campuses and not wanting to miss even one weekend with my friends.

I remember the pressure of grades, test scores, peer competition all to be forgotten every Friday night when we would scream in unison for our Central League sports heroes.

I remember trying to say and do all the right things in front of that guy who I might see between classes if I timed it perfectly.... now I could just text or IM and no one would see me blush or hear me stutter.

I remember wearing jeans for the first time to school. Yes it was my class who abolished the dress code. Pants got tighter, skirts got shorter, and hair got longer. We actually talked about the fact that some day we would be parents...grateful for our experiences, but never wanting our kids to put us through such drills!

I remember the Senior Prom! What to wear, who to ask, how to act, where to go the next day

I remember that it really isn't so different now a days. You guys have the same fears, insecurities, vulnerabilities, and feelings of invincibility that we carried on our shoulders.

I remember the ambivalence...can't wait to leave this place and what will I do next year without my circle of friends on whom I rely so heavily.

Penn Charter is a special place in so many ways which you will see so clearly once the distance of your new campus separates you from the beloved clock tower.

Wishing you smooth sailing most of the time: the strength to hang on when the winds pick up and the fortitude to hold out when the winds die down.

Best, Mrs. Brady

Rob, Lee and Will

Dear Margs,

For years you have looked up to me as a big sister, confidant, role model, and friend. What you didn't know is that I looked up to you in the same way. I have loved watching you become the person that you are today. You are truly the best and I love you more than anything, Bully Jr!

Love,
Migsys

Marghi,

We are so proud of who you are and all you have accomplished. Not only are you a caring and thoughtful sister, sister-in-law and friend, but you have created wonderful opportunities for yourself through your own drive, work ethic and commitment. We have no doubt that these qualities will continue to serve you well on the lacrosse field, in the classroom, and in whatever you pursue in the future.

You deserve all of the success you have had thus far and we look forward to cheering you on at Virginia and beyond, as it is clear that the future will be at least as bright as the past eighteen years.

And remember: Rule #16: give me an up-to-date family tree, that was your mistake, you just made me look like an idiot. Rule #76: No excuses. Play like a champion!

We love you and wish you the best of luck!

What a surprise when they said you were soon to arrive. What a surprise that you arrived while we parked the car.

You patiently waited your turn - while your older siblings grew and achieved. You quietly watched, learned and prepared.

HOORAY! It is YOUR time to shine. What a bright, caring and beautiful young woman you have become.

Marghi - embrace the future - don't be afraid. You are ready for all that life sends your way. Let yourself go and work for your dreams.

*Orgullosamente tu familia,

If there were ever a time to dare,
To make a difference
To embark on something worth doing
It is now.

Not for any grand cause, necessarily
But for something that tugs at your heart
Something that is worth your aspiration
Something that is your dream.

You owe it to yourself
To make your days count.
Have fun. Dig deep. Stretch.

Dream big.
Know, though,
That things worth doing
Seldom come easy,
There will be times when you want to

Turn around
Pack it up and call it quits
Those times tell you
That you are pushing yourself
And that you are not afraid to learn by trying.

Persist.
Because with an idea,
Determination and the right tools,
You can do great things.
Let your instincts, your intellect
And let your heart guide you.

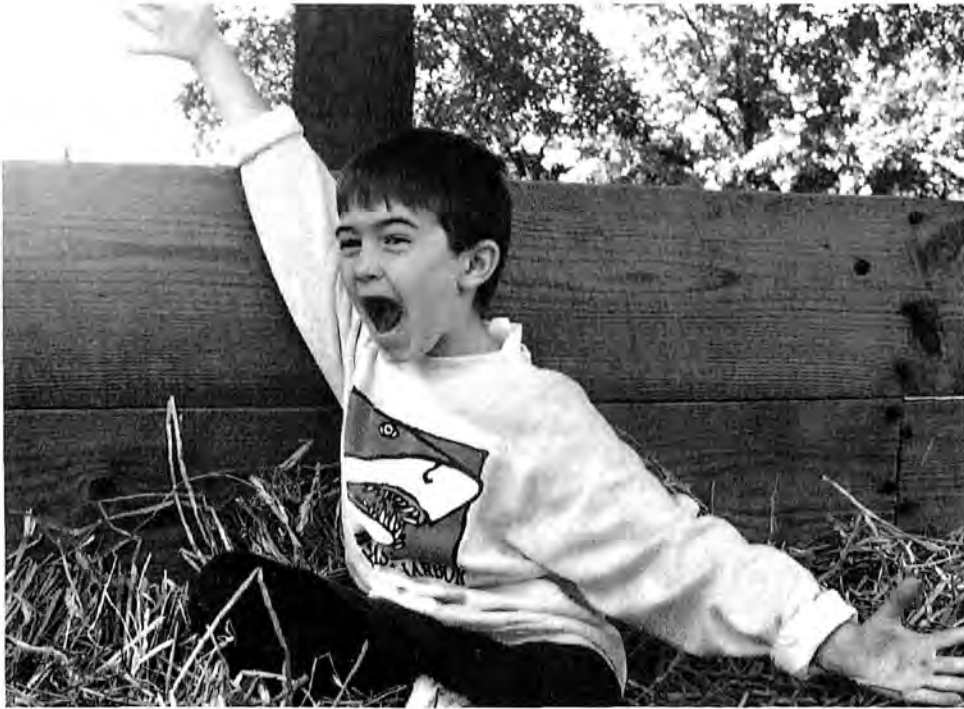

Trust.
Believe in the incredible power
Of the human mind
Of doing something that makes a difference
Of working hard
Of laughing and hoping
Of lasting friends
Of all the things that will cross your path

Next year
The start of something new
Brings the hope of something great.
Anything is possible
There is only one you
And you will pass this way but once.
Do it right.

Penn Charter graduate killed in Maine snowboarding accident

By Virginia A. Smith

INQUIRER STAFF WRITER

Andrew M. Peff, a 2007 William Penn Charter School graduate in his second semester at Colby College in Waterville, Maine, died Saturday in a snowboarding accident near the college.

Peff, 19, of Jenkintown, had gone with friends to Sugarloaf, a popular ski and snowboarding venue in Carabassett Valley, about an hour from Colby, according to James Terhune, dean of students.

Local news reports said Peff was boarding on an expert-level trail around 11 a.m. when he went off the trail and into the woods. He died after hitting a tree, Terhune said.

Although he was a second-semester freshman, Peff had arrived on campus only two weeks ago. He had spent his first semester in Dijon, France, as part of a language-immersion program. But in the short time he was on campus, Terhune said yesterday, "Andrew really wasted no time getting actively involved in the community."

Terhune said he had talked with Peff shortly after the young man arrived on campus and learned that he hoped to try out for the lacrosse team and possibly sign up for several student clubs.

"He was a really talented young man who was really excited about starting at Colby," Terhune said. "We were certainly thrilled to have him here."

At Penn Charter in East Falls, Peff was remembered yesterday as a bright student who was especially strong in French. Officials recalled him as a talented athlete and a saxophonist in the school band.

ACCIDENT from B1

He also was an enthusiastic member of an unofficial cheering squad whose members wore yellow T-shirts emblazoned with "Quaker Crew" and rooted for the basketball team. Sports teams at Penn Charter are known as the Quakers.

"Andrew was a great kid," said Paul Butler, the school's athletic director, citing Peff's consistent contributions on the varsity soccer team in fall and lacrosse team in spring. He also had played football.

Though of average size and build, Butler said, "Andrew was a strong performer and a really valued part of all of those teams."

Beyond that, he praised Peff for having a solid character and being an independent thinker. "He could stand on his own two feet. I always was impressed about that sense about him," Butler said.

Beth Glascott, director of Penn Charter's upper school, recalled Peff's "engaging smile and easygoing nature," his many interests, and the good grades that consistently won him academic honors.

"He was a wonderful young man," she said.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete last night. Peff's parents, Thomas and Ann Peff, both physicians, could not be reached.

Class Record 2007 Spring Supplement

William Penn Charter School, 3000 W. School House Lane, Phila., PA 19144

Commencement

9 June 2007

I love being a part of this community. The people of our community really care about one another; and when an individual is in distress, the whole community comes to help and support. I know first hand the power and strength of this community... At the InterAc [track] championships we faced adversity, but I felt that our community was strong enough to respond. Our community gave every individual athlete the strength to go out and perform to his best. We won the InterAc championship because we were the best team there that day.

E. Richard White Katie Delaney

Just as the traditions we uphold make our school the same Old Penn Charter as it has been since 1689, its ability to balance this continuity with a drive to change for the better makes it the Penn Charter we know today. This balance, I think, is something that the Class of 2007 can learn from Penn Charter. The next year of our lives will undoubtedly bring change, and lots of it. However, our time here gives us all something, at least one thing, in common - something permanent and continuous.

Penn Charter's 2007 baseball season was one that had many exciting and many disappointing moments. The team had a strong core of returning players from last year's second place InterAc team. The season started out very strong for PC. The Quakers traveled to Clearwater, Florida for an eight-day, three game stretch. Charter played well in all three games and came back focused to make some noise in the league. The InterAc season, though, did not go as well as planned. Losing star pitcher Mark Adzick in the middle of the season to injury proved to be an almost insurmountable burden. Penn Charter finished with a record of 3-7 in the InterAc, but the record is a little bit deceiving about how well the team really did play. If not for a few big innings by their opponents, the Quakers could have easily done much better than the record indicated. The highlight of the InterAc season for the Quakers was the last game of the season, against a confident, first place Chestnut Hill team. With Adzick back, Charter pulled a huge upset by winning 4-1, causing Chestnut Hill to settle for a tie with Malvern for first place. Adzick's "stuff" was working so well, and his pitching was so masterful, it could "make a grown man cry." Coach Mellor has said on a number of occasions that if the team could have played a complete seven innings in every game, they could have captured the InterAc title. It will be very upsetting to lose important seniors, including Mark Adzick (7-1, 1.66 earned run average, .343 batting avg.), Billy Goldman (.361 batting average), Sam Zeglinski (all three earning All-League honors), Tom Caramanico, Mario Incollingo, Mike Basile, Josh Heinsheimer, and Jon Torrey. The Quakers have a lot of good, young talent that should enable the PC to really make some noise in both the InterAc and in the state tournament next year. With the valuable experience gained by Mike Carroll, Mark Rhine (.333 batting avg.), Rob Amaro and All-League catcher Doug Fleming (.370 batting avg., led the team in home runs and extra-base hits), Charter will be in the thick of the InterAc title race in 2008.

Bridget McDugall, Erica Koplove

At the end of last year, the Penn Charter softball team was ranked ninth of all private school teams in the Philadelphia area and had won the InterAc title for the third straight season. Unfortunately, with the loss of five key seniors and six starters, we knew that this would be a difficult feat to repeat. Because there were not enough girls to make up a JV team this year, a number of new freshmen and sophomores were thrust into starting positions and had to take on challenging roles. Our losing record is a testimony to our inexperience, but our last game against arch rival GA proved to be our best game of the season. In our season opener against Archbishop Ryan, PC committed eight errors and had no runs scored. However, in our final game, with 0 errors, we defeated the Patriots by a score of 7-0 and attained third place in the league. While many may consider this season a rebuilding year for the softball team, it still is amazing that this young group of girls could be so successful in league play. This is evidence that every single player improved immensely over the course of the season and with the loss of only two seniors, shortstop Bridget McDugall (.362 average, .543 on-base percentage, 3 home runs and 17 runs batted in) and outfielder and pinch runner Vicki Markovitz, the future of the softball program looks bright. Next year, juniors Erica Koplove (4-3, 1.87 earned run avg., 24 strikeouts and only 4 walks in 30 league innings) and Megan Garvey, sophomores Allie Saft (.395), Liz Carpino (64 strikeouts and 13 walks in 49 innings), Cami Zager (.353 avg, .461 on base pct.), Allison Whip, Nora Ackley (.412 avg.) and Laura Kurash, and freshmen Liz Thom, Meg Delaney, Kayla Torrey, Elisha McGovern, Isa Rieser, Linnea Cripe, and Jen Dobias will be ready to take home another title. Bridget and Vicki wish them the best of luck and want them to know that they now have the talent and the experience necessary to be an amazing and indestructible team. Both seniors could not have asked for a better final season and want to thank all of their teammates for their support, their friendship, and the many memories!

Girls Lacrosse

All InterAc: First Team - Marghi Walters, Anne McKenna and Nora McGurkin; Honorable Mention - Kelsey McDowell

The girls lacrosse team had a very successful season. After losing six starters last year the returning veterans had some important shoes to fill and they did just that. The season began a little slowly with the cold weather postponing some of our games. Luckily because of Renee's intensive workout plan we had plenty we could do. Not being able to stand the cold anymore the PC girls team traveled to Florida for spring break. Although neither Mrs. Small nor Ms. Jacoby could make the trip, their replacements, Marie and Ashley, proved to be great motivators. The trip's highlights included: lacrosse, Eckerd College, maui babe tanning lotion, lacrosse, Eddie Money, the White boys, lacrosse, and much to Marghi's and Sam's delight an afternoon at Busch Gardens with the Baseball team, followed by some more lacrosse. We all returned home only slightly paler than Coach and immediately started the league season. After a great win against Agnes Irwin, we suffered losses to Baldwin and Germantown Academy. Luckily, Kiera had a great game in goal in our second encounter with Germantown Academy and we pulled away with a win. After Kelsey's oh-so memorable game winning goal against Hill last year, she came up big this year with the game winning assist to Anne in Penn Charter's win against Episcopal Academy. But it was truthfully the defense that won this game, which was orchestrated the entire season by tall, strawberry blond Marghi. We handed EA their only InterAc loss, and put PC in a position to challenge for second place. Finally, we were very fortunate that Sam Fretz made it through the season without an injury, since she was a very important defender for our team. Unfortunately Megan was sidelined with an injury to her back, but was truly a great fan to the PC lacrosse team. However, Erika proved to be the number one fan of girls lacrosse that she became a true member of the team. PC girls lax definitely had some tough loses, but some great wins. The seniors will surely miss this team, and wish them only the best in seasons to come.

Eric Muller, Joe Rauchut

Boys Lacrosse did not need a spring break in the Florida sun to prepare for a tough season; a few road trips to the Maryland lacrosse cauldrons were crucible enough for the Quakers. Coming into the season there were many gaps to be filled from last year's graduating class, but young players stepping up and making an impact quickly solved the problem. Excellent examples of this were Ryan Goldman and Steve McVeigh, both of whom did a good job at attack. Among the elders who also rose to the occasion was Rob Nation, senior rookie goaltender, who learned a difficult position quickly and kept the Quakers in many close games, especially deep into the playoffs. Not to be overlooked in this transitional season is the outstanding leadership of captains Eric Muller and Joe Rauchut, who served as mentors to the young ones and inspirations to all. Each of the seniors, like the always-reliable workhorse Drew Fullen, displayed the perseverance and determination that brought us to the playoffs. Penn Charter boys lac played a very challenging schedule this year, contesting nationally-ranked powerhouse teams such as McDonogh, Landon, Loyola, and Lawrenceville, as well as the big dogs of the InterAc: Haverford and Malvern. Since the InterAc league itself placed four of the top eight teams in the quarterfinals of the state playoffs, it is obvious that PC does not have to look far for challenges. After all was said and done the team finished 12-11 in a bruising, competitive season. Many players on the team had exceptional seasons (see list above) and Pat Brady, Dylan Smith, Andrew Peff and Nate Joslin made consistent and reliable contributions as experienced seniors. There will be a lot to look forward to next year with six starters returning next year and an army of young players who were always improving, day after day.

Like a giant primordial amoeba, the men of Chestnut Hill Academy's team flooded their track, undulating and screaming in a giant victory-fueled orgy. CHA had just beaten Penn Charter to clinch an undefeated InterAc regular season. Emotions were running high. PC runners looked to vent their emotions in any way possible. Some dropped to their knees and screamed at the heavens. Others chose to abuse waste receptacles. Still others took a third path, the path of sitting and waiting until Champs the next week to finally have their sweet revenge.

At the beginning of the 2007 track season, the question wasn't whether PC would win champs, but by how much. Who could blame them? PC's squad featured Indoor 60 meters state champion Kashif Smith (captain), a nationally ranked 4x200 relay team of Smith, Shawn and Dareem David, and Je'Ron Stokes, and solid returning performers like shot putter Richard White (captain), pole-vaulter Kelsey Dorwart (captain), jumper Will McMunigal, and mid-distance studs Dylan Isaacson (captain) and Ricky Lynn. However, injuries quickly took their toll on the squad: Kashif and Shawn went down early with hamstring injuries. By the end of the season, a very different cast of characters was scoring points for the Quakers: Sea Bass, Adam the Pole Vaulter, Kyreeeee, Malex Domenick, D-Maas, Drayyyybiak, Daniel Lyons, Ben Pearls, and newcomer Keith Montague all came to play critical roles on PC's championship squad.

Fast forward to Champs. Throughout the field events, CHA's boys congregated on the infield, jumping up and down, hugging and flailing their arms with each point scored by their formidable field squad. However, Penn Charter soon proved that there is also an equally important Track element to Track and Field. With Dareem capturing the 100 and 200, second place finishes by Dylan, Ricky, and D-Maas, and the 4x400's victory driving the final nail in CHA's coffin, everyone was quickly reminded that Penn Charter track has won twenty-two times more championships than CHA.

The captains would like to thank our coaches: Doc, Al, Ms. Flemming, Mr. Ballengee, Brandon, Mr. Kinley, Boogs, TC, Mr. Evans and especially Renee, for their wonderful guidance and support.

This year was a great one for the Penn Charter girls track team. With a large group of fresh faces, it was hard to tell what kind of season it would be; turns out, there was nothing to worry about. This season was one of the best that the Penn Charter girls track team has ever experienced. Under the leadership of captains Lisa Fugelo, Ashley Flores, Charlotte Revol and returning captain JaLia Moody, the team was able to come together and form a solid unit. The team went undefeated all season until, unfortunately, it came face-to-face with our biggest rivals: Germantown Academy. While the Quakers were a little upset about this hard loss, the girls became determined to beat GA at champs. They trained all season long and became stronger and faster. By the time champs came around, they were ready. It was an incredibly close meet (that is, between PC and GA at least) and everyone put in their greatest effort. It was impossible to know who was going to win. By the end of the meet, however, it became clear that all had not gone as planned and GA was yet again going to be the InterAc Champions. While this loss was disappointing, PC put up a good, quakerly fight. A few highlights were new freshman jumper, Saudiah Lawrence, winning the triple jump with only one jump and the Russian import, Anastasia Afanasyeva, running a personal best time in the 1600 m. Lots of school records were tied or broken (see list below), and the 4x100 relay team qualified as an alternate in the national finals for small schools. As usual, Khaaleedah Smith and JaLia Moody both had a great season. While it will be tough losing the senior track team members (JaLia, Ashley Flores, Ali Lipschultz, Charlotte Revol, Val Joell and Christina Gigliotti), the Quakers will come back stronger than ever and will certainly be successful next year. Watch out GA!!

The 2007 season brought an interesting experience for Penn Charter's Varsity Tennis team. It was a rebuilding year, one could say. Playing in the region's toughest league, replete with the nation's best junior players, Penn Charter's team fought against sometimes overwhelming talent, most of which 1st singles player, Chris Callis, unfortunately had to face, many times with pleasantly surprising results. The team also struggled through and overcame setbacks in injuries and harsh weather conditions. With captains Scott Israelite and Kevin Rosen at the helm, Penn Charter's tennis team embarked on a long and hard journey. The Quakers started out the season with a great win against Abington Friends, and carried that sense of pride and spirit to the following matches, albeit with fewer victories than the team would have wished. Coach Rose Weinstein motivated the team to play their hearts out, looking at every match as a potential win. With a lighthearted and positive attitude, the Penn Charter team set out, stomachs full with Rose's delectable Whoopie Pies, willing to fight for the win at every opportunity. The team's most exciting, yet devastating matches both came at the hands of the Blue Devils of Chestnut Hill Academy. Penn Charter lost both home and away in incredibly close 4-3 matches. In these matches the doubles tandems of Matt Byrne and Ben Goldenberg, Jeff Nails and Kevin Rosen, and Scott Israelite and 8th grade phenom Neil Ahmed, put up exciting wins supported strongly by alternates Art Bartolozzi, Chase Irwin and Ryan Kang. The Quakers also had a strong presence at the InterAc championships, in which three singles players, Garrett Shields, John Lam and Adam Kurtz, made it to their divisions respective semi-final matches. Boys Tennis looks forward to next year with high hopes. With a year of maturation and with the majority of the team returning, PC hopes to make a racquet in the InterAc in 2008.

Brett Falkoff

The 07 Penn Charter Varsity golf team, headed by captain Brett Falkoff, enjoyed its best finish in nearly ten years. Low scores were not an uncommon sight as the core of the team consisted of senior Brett Falkoff, sophomore Sam Lerner, senior Tim Walling, and junior Mike Blechschmidt. Senior Ben Katz, junior Matt Tausch, eighth grader Jeff Blechschmidt and seventh grader Bobby Wurtz rounded out the strong Varsity squad. The JV team consisted of Alex Kapnek, Drew Lewis, Oscar Mattsson, and Jillian Falkoff. Coach Val Erdmanis joined the staff as our defensive coordinator. InterAc league golf is undoubtedly the most competitive golf in the Delaware Valley, with the most talented players shooting the lowest scores. The team's 6-4 league record earned them third place in the InterAc, besting Germantown Academy, Episcopal Academy, and The Haverford School.

The sweetest sweep of the season came midway through, in the two matches against The Haverford School. At Haverford's home, Gulph Mills Golf Club, the team carded an impressive six man, nine hole aggregate of 235, averaging out to just over thirty-nine strokes per player, beating Haverford by a solid thirteen strokes. The following day Penn Charter hosted Haverford at Huntingdon Valley Country Club, beating them by four strokes. Penn Charter also swept Germantown Academy and Episcopal Academy. Both Falkoff and Lerner received All InterAc honors, making the first team and second team, respectively.

The Quakers' victorious season culminated in the InterAc Championships, hosted by Chestnut Hill Academy at Sunnybrook Golf Club. Entering as underdogs, Penn Charter came out with a roar, posting an eighteen hole, three man aggregate of 242. They placed second only to Chestnut Hill Academy. Ending the season with a bang, captain and six-year varsity player Brett Falkoff shot seventy-five, finally winning his long-awaited InterAc champion title.

Spring Varsity Action

Transitions

Above our Senior Stairs hangs a banner with William Penn's words: Let us then try what Love will do. Pam and Earl Ball have been daily reminders of the spirit of those words for over three decades by their love for each other, for their family, and for the wider family that is Penn Charter. Earl's inclusive and deliberate leadership has guided the school's growth in size and diversity, and Pam's compassionate teaching and mentoring have comforted many students and colleagues. Their sacrifices, commitment and enthusiasm for our school will last well beyond their retirement. Godspeed and thank you, Pam and Earl Ball.

Also leaving the school this year are some who were only with us briefly: Emily Silverman, Latin; Steven Valette, Math; Megan Neumeister (English); Sarah Green (Trask Library); Erin Harrington (Alumni and Parent Relations); and Bruce Begin (Chief Advancement Office). Barrett Hein (Development Research) and Jamey Hein (Middle School English) left an impression on students and colleagues and their contributions have been appreciated. Mark Franek (English, Dean of Students) strove to insure fairness in the student government decision-making process and was a valued colleague, coach and mentor to many in his 11 years at PC. Dean Franek pioneered the use of blogs and online English assignments, saving trees and moving the school further along in the brave new world of cyberspace. And for 27 years Jack Coleman has been a mainstay in the Social Studies department, challenging his AP US History classes, advising the Webster Debate Society, and tormenting his 9th and 10th graders. Though he might not remember all of his students' names, they certainly will remember Doc's lessons for the rest of their lives.

Our school community was saddened by the sudden death of Matt Miller in June. Matt worked in the Development Office, creating the interactive website for alumni and strengthening our scholarship endowment. Matt and his immediate family were and remain cherished members of the larger family that is Penn Charter. Everyone who knew Matt will long remember his dedication to and enthusiasm for PC, his smile, and his candor.
